MARKET REPORTS.

CATTLE.

HULL, Monday.—Slow trade. Best beef 18/- to 20/-, secondary 16/- to 18/-, cows 15/- to 16/- per stone. Small sheep 1/4, ewes 10d. to 1/-, lambs 1/4 to 1/6 per lb. Small pigs 18/-, medium 17/-, large 15/6; large supply.

BIRKENHEAD, Monday.—There was again a very slow trade for cattle. Choicest medium weight bullocks and heifers made about 12½d. and useful strong bullocks 1/- downwards. No demand for bulls and cows. Notwithstanding the large decrease in the number of lambs, trade was also very slow. A few choice lots of lambs made 18d., other sorts 16d. to 17d. per lb., sinking the offal. Dressed beef trade again slow, sides making 10½d. to 11½d. per lb. Supplies—1,149 Irish cattle, 662 foreign cattle, and 4,134 sheep and lambs.

LONDON, Monday.—A few more cattle shown than last week, comprising shorthorns and Herefords from the Midlands, and 61 beasts from Dublin. Quality was again good, but trade remained slow all through the market, and prices were a further 1d. per lb. lower, demand being restricted to only the smallest and choicest Herefords. Average prices per 8lb. stone—Shorthorns, 1st quality 9/-, 2nd 8/4; Herefords, 1st 9/4, 2nd 8/6. The Irish beasts made about 8/- per stone. About 1,400 fewer sheep than last week, and trade better, the smallest and choicest Downs being in demand, but longwools were in very slow demand, although prices for these were firm. Fat lambs were also offered in reduced numbers, and met a similarly improved inquiry at 1d. per lb. more money. Average quotations per lb.—Downs, 1st 16d., 2nd 13d.; longwools, 1st 11d., 2nd 9d.; crossbreds, 1st 15d., 2nd 12d.; fat lambs, 1st 21d., 2nd 18d. Numbers on offer—Cattle 445, sheep 1,870.

LAW REPORTS.

POSSESSION OF RATHMINES PREMISES.

In the Chancery Division yesterday, before Mr. Justice Powell, in the matter of the estate of Thomas J. Hurley, deceased—Patrick Birmingham, Michael Birmingham, and Thomas Birmingham v. Mary Josephine Hurley.

Mr. Moloney (instructed by Mr. Peter M. Seales) applied on behalf of Mr. Seales, solicitor having carriage of the sale of the premises, 124 Upper Rathmines, Dublin, for an order that the defendant and John Dorney and Joseph Hade be committed to Mountjoy Prison for their contempt in failing and refusing to give up possession of portion of the premises referred to, as directed by an order of the Court, dated 14th June, 1921, or in the alternative that Mr. Seales be at liberty to issue a writ or writs of attachment against the defendant and Messrs Dorney and Hade. Counsel said that this was an administration suit brought by the creditor. An order for sale was made, and the premises were sold; and his lordship, on the 14th June, made an order directing the defendant and Messrs. Dorney and Hade to give up possession, and he put a stay on the order.

Mr. Hade said that he had done all he could to get a place, but he could not get one. He did not want trouble.

Mr. Justice Powell—You might consider it trouble to go to Mountjoy.

Mr. Hade—I don't want to go there.

Mr. Justice Powell—But I will send you there if you don't give up possession. I have given you plenty of latitude. Do you persist in keeping this house?

Mr. Hade—I would go into the street to-night before I would get into trouble that way.

Mr. Justice Powell made an order for a writ of attachment against Mr. Hade, with a stay on it for a week, and said that if he did not give up possession within a week he knew what would happen—that he would go to jail. He made similar orders against the defendant and against Mr. Dorney.

CO. DUBLIN PROPERTY.—In the Chancery Division yesterday, before Mr. Justice Powell, in the matter of the Settled Land Acts and Flood, Mr. Russell (instructed by Messrs. W. J. Shannon) applied on behalf of Maurice John Flood, a minor, by Mrs. Margaret Flood, his mother, for an order that Mr. William McDonald, Great Brunswick street, and Mr. John Shortall, of Phibsborough road, Dublin, be appointed trustees of the settlement deemed to be existing under the Settled Land Act of one undivided one-third share of three freehold houses, situate at Barrack lane, Finglas, County Dublin, and of a freehold house in Main street, Finglas, let as a dispensary, and Flood's licensed lower house, Finglas, and fifteen cottages and ground at rear, and also of a freehold house and premises at Barrack lane, Finglas, let to Patrick Brennan. Counsel moved on the affidavit by Mrs. Flood, mother of the minor, who stated that her husband, John Flood, died on the 11th November, 1918, intestate, leaving Maurice John Flood, who was born on the 13th May, 1916, his heir-at-law, surviving. Her husband at the time of his death was seized in fee-simple of the freehold premises at Barrack lane, Finglas, let to Patrick Brennan, and was seized in fee-simple of a one undivided third share of the remainder of the premises mentioned, her sister-in-law, Kate Flood (now Kate Anderson), and her brother-in-law, Patrick J. Flood, being each seized of another one undivided third share. She had had a valuation of the premises made by Mr. Andrew J. Keogh. Patrick J. Flood had made an offer to purchase the interest of Maurice John Flood in the freehold premises at Barrack lane, let to Patrick Brennan for £210, the amount of the valuation, and also to purchase the respective undivided third shares to which Mrs. Kate Anderson and the minor were entitled, for the sum of £1,440 each, one-third of the amount of the balance thereof. In her opinion these were advantageous offers, and it would be for the benefit of the minor that they should be accepted. Mr. Justice Powell granted the application, and said that the minor's share of the proceeds of the sale must be brought into Court.

COUNTY MEATH LANDS.—In the Chancery Division yesterday, before Mr. Justice Powell, in the matter of the estate of Mary O'Kelly, consisting of part of the lands of Kildangan, Fornafulla, and Ballynaguishy, County Meath, settled by the will, dated 29th July, 1915, with three codicils, of Thomas Maurice Carew, and in the matter of the Settled Land Acts, Mr. Murnaghan (instructed by Messrs. Brown and McCann) applied on behalf of Mrs. Mary O'Kelly, of Kildangan, that Mr. Bernard Robinson, of Phepotstown, Kilcock, and Dr. Joseph Smyth, of Gowra, Naas, be appointed trustees for the purpose of the Settled Land Acts. Counsel moved on the affidavit of his client, who stated that the lands referred to stand limited to her for life. She was the widow of Thomas M. Carew, who died in August, 1915, and since his death she had resided on and managed the lands. She married her present husband, Major John O'Kelly, in March, 1920. Owing to the disturbed condition of the country, and labour and other agitations and the falling of the market for cattle, she found it undesirable to continue working the lands, and she was of opinion that it would be better for the trust estate that they should be sold. Mr. Justice Powell granted the application.

THE CUSTODY OF A CHILD.—The matter of the Guardianship of Infants Act and Nelson was listed in the Chancery Division, before Mr. Justice Powell, on the application of a Mrs. Nelson, for the custody of her child. The names or addresses of the parties were not mentioned in Court, but it was stated that the applicant was living in her husband's house near Belfast. When the case was called, Mr. S. L. Brown, K.C., with whom was Mr. Charles Murphy (instructed by Mr. William Alexander), for the applicant, asked for an adjournment for a week. They had received affidavits from the other side on Monday, and the solicitors' offices in Belfast were closed on Tuesday and Wednesday. They had got one affidavit in reply, but they had not been able to get the others. Mr. Herbert Wilson, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Turnbull and Company) appeared for the father of the child, and objected to an adjournment for a week. His lordship's list that day week was pretty full, and it would be preposterous to deal with a case with eight or nine affidavits. He had no objection to allow the case to stand until the next sittings. Mr. Justice Powell—Is there any hurry about it? Mr. Brown—The hurry is this, that the child has been removed to England, and that possibility of access by the mother is removed. Mr. Wilson said that no case had been made to take away the custody of the child from the husband on the affidavits. He was quite willing in September to give the mother reasonable access to the child. He could not very well do it before September. It was stated in the affidavits that the child was with a sister of the father in England, and was well looked after. Mr. Brown said that the mother was living in her husband's house near Belfast, and he suggested that the mother should have access to the child there. Mr. Wilson—He (the husband) is not living there. I could not possibly leave the child alone with his mother, because it is sworn by one of the doctors that she has threatened to kill the child. Mr. Brown—That is absolute nonsense. It will be contradicted. Mr. Turnbull, solicitor, undertook to provide a neutral place at which the mother could have access to the child. Mr. Justice Powell said that he would take Mr. Turnbull's undertaking to name a neutral place where the mother could have reasonable access to the child in the month of September, and on that understanding he would let the case stand.

LICENSING STATISTICS.

FIGURES FOR ENGLAND AND WALES.

The feature of the licensing statistics for 1920 for England and Wales issued yesterday is that, while there are reductions in both "on" and "off" licensed premises, the number of registered clubs has reached a record. On January 1, 1920, there were in England and Wales 83,432 premises with on-licences and 22,198 with off-licences, giving proportions according to the estimated population of 22.18 on-licences and 5.90 off-licences, or together 28.08 licensed premises per 10,000 persons. In Wales and Monmouthshire the figures were 6,077 on-licences and 551 off-licences, being proportions of 22.92 and 2.07, or together 24.99 per 10,000 persons, as against 22.13 and 6.19, or together 28.32 for England. During the year the decrease of on-licences will probably prove to have been 806, against 612 in 1919, leaving a total of 82,626 at the beginning of 1921. With regard to off-licences, the decrease during the year will probably prove to have been about 146.

On January 1, 1920, there were 8,994 registered clubs. This is the highest total reached since the system of registration has been in operation. It is estimated that during the year the number increased further by upwards of 900. The number of licensed premises closed with compensation was 526, which is above the figures for 1916-19, but only two-thirds of the average for 1905-14. The total amount received into compensation funds for the year was £828,551, and the averages of compensation paid were, full, £1,459 1s. 11d. and, beerhouse, £1,346 19s. 2d., an average for all licences of £1,390 11s. 6d., the figures being the highest recorded.

The total number of convictions for drunkenness in England and Wales in 1920 was 95,763, as compared with 57,948 for 1919, an increase of 37,815, or 65.25 per cent. The figures for every month in 1920 were higher than those of any month during the four preceding years, except January, 1916, and December, 1919. A slight tendency to diminution was observable towards the end of the year, and for each of the areas—except Wales—the figures for December, 1920, are less than those for December, 1919. The total for 1920 is more than three times as great as the lowest total reached during the war, viz., in 1918, and for the first time since 1915 the year's figures exceed one-half of the highest total recorded since 1907, viz., 188,877 in 1913.

CHARITABLE DONATIONS AND BEQUESTS.

The 75th report of the Commissioners of Charitable Donations and Bequests for Ireland for the year ended 31st December, 1919, was issued yesterday. During the year 17 meetings of the Board were held. The Commissioners made 440 orders in various matters affecting charities and charity property, besides providing for the regular issue of the sums payable to the charities under their control. The gross total of the funds held amounted to £1,267,506 18s. 11d. The Commissioners in addition, received rents and annuities of the yearly value of £1,751 9s. 1d. and the annual interest on certain funds amounting to £11,205 0s. 7d. The charity accounts for the year ended 31st December, 1919, have been audited by the Local Government Board and settled and declared.

IMPORTATION OF RUMINANTS.

Owing to the improvement in the foot-and-mouth disease position in Great Britain, the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction for Ireland have decided to relax, as from the 18th instant, their embargo on the importation into Ireland of ruminants and swine from England and Wales, so as to allow of the landing of these classes of animals under the conditions laid down in the Departmental permit. Intending importers should, in the first instance, apply to the Veterinary Branch of the Department (50 and 51 Upper Mount street, Dublin), stating in the application the number and class of animals which it is desired to import, and the purpose for which the importation is intended. It should, however, be understood that permits will not be granted for the importation of animals located within a foot-and-mouth disease scheduled district, or which have been in a foot-and-mouth disease scheduled district at any time during the six weeks preceding the intended date of importation.

IRISH GEOGRAPHICAL ASSOCIATION.

The Irish Geographical Association met yesterday in the College of Science, Dublin, when Mr. Hinch, of the Geological Survey of Ireland, discussed the available literature of physical geography, and more especially that having relation to Ireland. He placed on the table for examination by the members a number of books and maps bearing on the subject, and, if one may judge by the interest displayed in them, this feature of the programme was especially appreciated. Afterwards Mr. Fletcher delivered his lecture on "Irish Industries and Sources of Power," a subject which, as a member of the Water Power Commission, he has made peculiarly his own. He pointed out the ever-increasing substitution of power-driven machinery for hand industries, and the desirability of such substitution. Recent developments in the transmission of high tension electricity and in the individual driving of small units of machinery by electric power have shown the possibility of bringing up to date the existing hand industries in those districts where they still survive, without any concentration of the workers into industrial centres. The water-power of Ireland, and possibly also its great peat resources, may in this manner become available for the use of the rural population.

To-day's programme is:—10 a.m., Modelling—Mrs. Wright; 11.30, The Edge of Africa—The President. Afternoon, excursion to Killiney, conducted by Mr. Hinch, Geological Survey of Ireland.

TOWN TENANTS' LEAGUE.

THE INCREASED RENT.

The meeting of the Central Executive of the All Ireland Town Tenants' League was held on Thursday last at the offices, 43 Rutland square, Dublin. Mr. William Field presided. Correspondence was read from fifty urban centres dealing with the general business of the organisation and local cases of hardship. A letter was read from the Waterford Branch dealing with a case which has arisen there, and the action decided upon. Further correspondence was considered in reference to the sale of Ballinasloe, and the Executive expressed the hope that the local people would co-operate, so that each should get his own house. It is expected that Mr. Coghlan Briscoe will visit Ballinasloe during the week. In reference to the sale of a house in Newbridge, it was decided that a representative from the Executive should attend and bid for the tenant.

Mr. Coghlan Briscoe, who has just returned to Dublin, submitted correspondence received from English town tenants protesting against the power now given to landlords to further increase rents by 10 per cent.

Mr. Arthur Hughes proposed a resolution that town tenants be requested to pay no further increase in rents pending a Parliamentary settlement between the two countries, and that, taking into account the vital issues affecting town tenants, it is advisable that all tenants should co-operate with, and join, the League, which is always prepared to deal fairly with any differences which may arise between landlords and their tenants; that as the League cannot be carried on unless supported by those interested, we call on town tenants to supply money now urgently needed to continue the work.

Mr. G. Harding, in seconding the resolution, said that it was not unreasonable to ask landlords to refrain from increasing rents until such time as an Irish Parliament was sitting.

Mr. Field said that the All Ireland Town Tenants' League had already settled thousands of cases amicably, and desired to continue that policy. It was most unfortunate that the Government had allowed to lapse that portion of the Rents Act which protected business premises, and he hoped that the town tenants throughout the country would take immediate steps to supply adequate funds to continue the movement. The Dublin Central Branch reported numerous amicable settlements, and negotiations were being continued in about seventy other cases, most of which, it is hoped, will be settled during this month.

COOMBE HOSPITAL.

The July meeting of the Board of Guardians and Directors of the Coombe Hospital, Dublin, was held in the boardroom on the 13th inst., when there were present:—Alderman J. Hubbard Clarke, High Sheriff (in the chair); James Robinson, M.A.; Charles H. Chaytor, M.A.; Dr. R. A. MacLaverty, Master; Walter Scott, Louis A. Byrne, F.R.C.S.; W. H. Verschoyle; and apology received from Captain W. Lombard Murphy, M.B.

The minutes of previous Board and Committee meetings having been read, confirmed, and signed, correspondence of a varied nature considered and rulings made thereon, and business of a routine nature having been discharged, the Board adjourned.

The Guardians desire to express their gratitude to the following kind donors:—
£5—D. Madden and Son, Ltd.
2 guineas each—Watkins, Jameson and Pim, Ltd.; Faunin and Co., Ltd.
£2—Colonel Comyn.
1 guinea each—Alderman J. Clarke, Messrs Weir and Son.

Further contributions will be thankfully received and gratefully acknowledged if sent direct to the hospital or through any member of the Board.

RACECOURSE GLEANINGS.

ANOTHER WIN FOR ISLE OF WIGHT.

SUNNY RHYME ATONES.

(SPECIALLY CONTRIBUTED.)

LEICESTER, MONDAY.

Now that the Leicester Race Company, after many lean years, have struck a vein of financial prosperity they might with advantage consider the advisability of strengthening their programme. That of to-day was decidedly meagre, and did not contain one item of absorbing interest. There was a decided lack of interest about the whole proceedings, and that was not entirely due to a paucity of runners as a result of the prevailing drought.

The chief two-year-old event was the Wigston Maiden Plate. Isle of Wight was the only one to carry the extra 7lbs. for winning after closing, and the general impression was that this White Eagle colt had little to do, but, as a matter of fact, as the race was run, he had all his work cut out to beat Voltage by a neck. Fox did not get any too well away on him, and it was only in the last hundred yards that he got on terms. The winner, no doubt, would have been unlucky had he suffered defeat. He is undoubtedly a useful youngster, and this was his third win in succession.

Sunny Rhyme has repeatedly disappointed her veteran trainer, Joseph Butters, this season, and in her last outing at Newmarket she had disposed of her prospects by a slow beginning. She now had a much easier task in the Evington Handicap, though it was probably Bullock's stronger horsemanship that enabled her to stall off Elliott's effort on Tullabeg. At the same time Elliott did not ride a bad race, but not unnaturally suffered in contrast with his more experienced opponent.

The improvement of Laugh in the Prince of Wales's Plate, in contrast to his recent Folkestone form, was a subject of much comment, though the much expected Hogier, whom he just outstayed, is not a particularly good animal.

A great finish for the Belvoir Castle Handicap resulted in the judge being unable to separate Bantry and Young Visitor. Bantry had jumped off with a clear lead, a fact which his connections did not fail to consider when the question of running off or dividing was considered, and the division was agreed to. Had Young Visitor got off on equal terms he might have scored.

There was some criticism of Spear's finish on Bantry, but Sir William Cooke and Jack Jarvis, the owner and trainer respectively, went out of their way to express the opinion that Spear had ridden one of the best races of his career, as the Stewards had been informed that, prior to the race, Spear's instructions were that he was not to punish his mount, but to ride him with his hands. This was exactly what he did.

SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

LEICESTER, MONDAY.

Neither the Stewards' Cup nor the Liverpool Cup may be meddled with much this week in an ante-post betting sense. I hear that Polemarch is likely to leave the Stewards' Cup job to Little Boy, which was placed in last year's race. I expect the sport here to-morrow will be rather quiet, and my full selections are:—
Appleby Plate—Limchintsong.
Sutton Plate—Prevoyant.
Wistow Hall Breeders—Alector.
Leicestershire Oaks—W.A.A.C.
July Handicap—Marissa.

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Milesius and Chef were struck out of the Stewards' Cup, Goodwood, after 1 p.m. on Saturday.

Poltava will be ridden in the race for the Molyneux Stakes by F. Bullock. Linton's other runner at Aintree will be La Voiture, which will be entrusted to Wragg in the race for the Liverpool Cup.

Sarchedon has been sold to go to Australia. The price is said to be £5,000.

A general meeting of the Turf Club will be held at the Curragh to-day immediately after the second race has been run.

A strike of cricket ball makers at the factory of Messrs. Wisden and Co. has been settled by arbitration before the Board of Trade. The award comes into operation in September.

The deaths are reported of the six-year-old stallion Jutland (bred by the King, and foaled in February, 1915), and the brood mare Baroness la Fleche (foaled in 1900).

Bullock's brilliant riding at Sandown recalls the fact that Archer twice rode six winners in one afternoon, and Higgs, in 1907, rode a last winner at Lingfield and the first five winners on the following day at Newbury. The Australian is now ahead of Donoghue again in the matter of winning mounts.

Lord Astor heads the list of winning owners in England to date, with £16,962, the value of five races won, and of which sum Craig an Eran has accounted for £15,335. Among the sires, Polymelus comes first, his progeny having won 21 races worth £23,141, and Sunstar stands second with £21,333.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY'S ENGLISH TOUR.

HEAVY SCORING BY DERBYSHIRE.

Derbyshire compiled a big total against Dublin University at Burton-on-Trent yesterday. When stumps were drawn on Saturday Bowden was not out, 52, and G. F. Bell not out, 30. The pair participated in a great partnership, which realised 301 runs for the fifth wicket in three and a quarter hours. Derbyshire beat their previous highest score of the season, 332, against Worcestershire. The first 150 came in two and a quarter hours, and the 200 appeared after two and three-quarter hours. Bell completed his century in an hour and fifty-five minutes, Bowden, who progressed at a much slower rate, taking three and a quarter hours to reach three figures. It was Bowden's second century of the season. Runs continued to come freely, and the lunch score was 300 for four wickets. Three hundred and fifty was passed in four and a half hours. When he was 140 Bowden overtook his partner. Bell made his 150 in two hours and fifty-five minutes, and Bowden reached that number in four and a quarter hours. At the tea interval, after five hours' batting, Derbyshire had compiled 418 for four wickets. At that total the great partnership ended, Bell being out to a simple catch off Middleton. He gave one chance in his long stay of three and a quarter hours—namely, at 53, when he was dropped in the slips. He hit one 6 and eleven 4's. Bowden did not give a single chance, but, by painstaking methods, put together his highest score of the season. Batting altogether over five hours, he hit twelve 4's. Of the later batsmen Cadman had a bright innings of 54, including one 5 and six 4's, scored in an hour and a quarter. Derbyshire were batting six and three-quarter hours for 548, and then Trinity lost one wicket for 65. Score:—

THE FOURTH TEST MATCH.

FOURTEEN PLAYERS INVITED.

Mr. H. K. Foster yesterday informed the Press at the Oval that the following players had been invited to attend at Old Trafford, Manchester, next Saturday:—

Major the Hon. L. H. Tennyson (Hampshire), J. W. H. T. Douglas (Essex), P. G. H. Fender (Surrey), C. S. M. Marriott (Cambridge University and Lancashire), Woolley (F. E.) (Kent), Hearne (J. W.) (Middlesex), Brown (G.) (Hampshire), Durston (Middlesex), Hallows (Lancashire), Strudwick (Surrey), Tyldesley (E.) (Lancashire), Russell (A. C.) (Essex), Mead (C. P.) (Hampshire), and Parker (Gloucestershire).

Of the above Fender, Marriott, Hallows, Russell, Mead, and Parker are new to the present Test series, though Fender and Russell figured in the disastrous rubber of the M.C.C. team in Australia last winter. Of the side beaten at Leeds a fortnight ago only Tennyson, Douglas, Woolley, Hearne, and Brown have been retained. Douglas and Woolley have been chosen for the whole of the games.

KENT v. LANCASHIRE.

Another large and enthusiastic crowd assembled at Mote Park, Maidstone, yesterday, when this match was resumed in tropical weather. No rain fell during the week-end, so that the wicket continued to play very fast. Lancashire declared at their Saturday's score of 361 for nine wickets, and James Tyldesley and Cook opened the bowling against J. Bryan and Hardinge. The left-hander played a delightful innings. He was never in difficulties, and cut and drove perfectly. His best scoring stroke was an on drive. By this means he hit three 6's—two off Cook and one off Richard Tyldesley. He also had a dozen 4's to his credit, completing his century in just over two hours. When in the fifties he might have been caught by Hallows, who misjudged the flight of the ball. Woolley was in eighty-five minutes for 26. Later in the day Collins hit with great freedom, reaching 50 in thirty-five minutes, and having one 6 and eight 4's. James Tyldesley accomplished a sensational feat when he dismissed Woolley, Bickmore, and Hubble in one over; but Cook was by far the steadiest of the visitors' attack. Lancashire, who gained a lead of 30 on the first innings, met with early disaster in their second, Hallows leaving with six scored. Play became very slow, the first 50 occupying an hour. Score:—

SURREY v. MIDDLESEX.

CHAMPIONS' DEFEAT PROBABLE.

Unbeaten in the Championship matches for nearly a year, such a fate is probably in store for Middlesex at the Oval to-day, as, following on the batting collapse before Rushby and Hitch, which left them in a substantial minority, they were set yesterday 370 to make in the fourth innings—a task scarcely likely to be accomplished. The weather remained gloriously fine, and a crowd of 13,000 strong assembled. Score:—

WARWICKSHIRE v. HAMPSHIRE.

Hampshire, who scored the substantial total of 397 for the loss of seven batsmen on the opening day at Edgbaston, consolidated their advantage yesterday, and it will need a good batting performance by Warwickshire to avert defeat to-day. The outstanding wickets produced an additional 99 runs, so that the Hants' aggregate reached 496, the product of six and a half hours' batting. Newman stayed two and a half hours for his 84, and hit six 4's. Hake played admirably for his 72, for which he had occupied an hour and forty minutes. He hit ten 4's. No less than nine bowlers were arrayed against the Hants' batsmen. Warwickshire were more solid and restrained than usual, but, while the bulk of the side got into double figures, only Storer made any prolonged stay. Quaife (23), Holdsworth (18), and Smith (18), all batted usefully. Storer played a very fine innings of 105, not out, his first three-figure contribution, and Rotherham hit fiercely for 38. Score:—

Hampshire	496
Warwickshire	303 (8 wkts.)

LEICESTERSHIRE v. SOMERSETSHIRE.

The match at Ashby de la Zouch came to an unexpectedly speedy conclusion yesterday, Leicestershire winning by an innings and 24 runs as early as one o'clock. Leicestershire were in a strong position at the drawing of stumps on Saturday, and their two outstanding wickets added 28 runs. Rudd's innings of 69 lasted less than an hour. Leicestershire's venture occupied them three hours and a quarter. Facing an arrears of 121, Somerset fared so disastrously in their second innings against the bowling of Astill (6 for 40) and Benskin (4 for 47) that they were all out for 97 in eighty minutes.

ESSEX v. GLOUCESTERSHIRE.

In another day of blazing heat at Leyton yesterday, Gloucester were outplayed, Essex gaining a first innings lead of 138. They added a further 44 to Saturday evening's total, the chief feature of which was the spirited innings of Brown, who, going in number nine, collected 52. Gloucestershire's batting was distinctly disappointing. Score:—

YACHTING.

GREAT BRITAIN v. AMERICA.

BRITISH ELIMINATING TRIALS.

The first of the eliminating trials to select four boats to represent Great Britain against America in a four a side contest took place under the direction of the Island Sailing Club at Cowes yesterday. The race was started from the Royal London Yacht Club, and was the first of six trial races. A light North-Easterly breeze was blowing, which proved rather fluky, and it was a very poor test for the competing craft, although Victoria, who eventually proved the winner, proved herself the best light weather boat in the class. The start was at 12.20, and the course 14 sea miles. The wind was very light at the start, and most of the boats were lodged on the line, Flya and Victoria got about the best of a straggling start. They reached to the East Lepe Buoy, and then had a beat to the West Bramble Buoy, where Victoria was leading, with Alarm II. followed by Baccara and Margaret. From this mark they had another reach to the line. The same order was maintained in the second round until the turn to windward to the West Bramble, when Baccara lost her place. The wind freshened towards the finish, and they reached the line with a fair turn of speed, making a close finish for second and third places. Finishing times:—

	H.	M.	S.
Victoria (Sir W. P. Burton and Sir G. Collins) (winner)	4	9	51
Alarm II. (Mr. A. S. Wellby) (second)	4	10	38

ROYAL HARWICH YACHT CLUB.

Fair weather and a moderate breeze prevailed yesterday at Harwich, when the regatta of the club took place. The wind in the harbour at the start was from the north-east, and very light, but outside the harbour it was stronger, and the yachts had a good test of sailing. The first match was:—

RIFLE SHOOTING.

BISLEY MEETING.

FIRST STAGE OF THE KING'S PRIZE.

BISLEY, MONDAY.

The contest for the King's Prize began at Bisley to-day, when the first stage in the great competition was fired off—seven shots at each distance of 200, 500, and 600 yards. Late to-night the names of the 300 marksmen who have survived the preliminary contest may be known. They will shoot in the second stage on Wednesday, when a hundred of them will qualify to participate in the final struggle for the much coveted prize on the Stickledown range at 900 yards and 1,000 yards on Thursday. Incidentally, a heavy list of events remains to be worked off in these last few days of the present meeting. To-day's programme was also rendered interesting by the shooting off of the various ties in Saturday's newspaper competitions. It was as hot as ever on the ranges. The light was rather glaring and the wind, welcome enough to visitors, was at times troublesome. The ties for the "Daily Graphic" Cup and 24 places below were shot off in the morning. The Cup was captured by Mr. C. H. Cave (London and Middlesex Rifle Club). The next five prizes of three framed sketches and £3 each were won in this order by Major B. Holtby (4th East Yorks.), Sgt. J. McIntyre (late 5th Royal Scots Fusiliers), Mr. C. Lewes (Sheffield Rifle Club), Capt. H. St. G. Maxwell (4th Suffolks), and Lieut. E. V. Norman (late Labour Corps). The seventh and eighth prizes, two framed sketches and £2 each were secured by Lieut. S. A. Annand (Canada) and Sgt. Newman (4th Royal West Kents), the latter of whom it is interesting to note won the St. George's Vase as a Canadian in 1919.

The tie in the competition for the "Graphic" Cup took place in the afternoon, ten marksmen shooting for the trophy, and nine places below Cmdr. A. W. Brooks (R.N.), C.P.O. F. E. Morton (H.M.S. Pembroke), and Sgt. G. McHaffie (5th K.O.S.B.) tied again with 15 points each. Following on with a shot for shot tie Sgt. McHaffie fell out of the contest with an inner, but Cmdr. Brooks and Morton tied four times in succession. With his fifth shot Cmdr. Brooks scored a bull and won the cup, Morton making an inner.

The Foster Challenge Cup, which had been shot for in connection with the first stage of the St. George's, was won to-day by Captain P. S. Carden (R.A.S.C.) after a tie shoot with Trooper A. Freeland (late Glasgow Yeomanry). The "Daily Telegraph" Cup was captured this evening by Captain W. Gray (late London Scottish and N.R.A. School of Musketry) after a tie shoot with Lieut.-Col. R. Sandeman (late Royal Gloster Hussars), who received £5. Captain Gray scored a bull with each of his three shots, Colonel Sandeman making a bull, an inner, and a miss.

With regard to the awards in the Stock Exchange Aggregate Captain H. St. G. Maxwell (4th Suffolks), who was placed second in the official list issued yesterday, pointed out to the N.R.A. that they were in error in awarding the first prize to Sgt. J. A. Smith (late Royal Guernsey Light Infantry), inasmuch as the tie should have been shot off and not counted out. A tie shoot accordingly took place this evening, and Captain Maxwell won, thus reversing the order in the prize list, Captain Maxwell scored three bulls, Sgt. Smith dropping a point on his first shot.

The Universities snapshooting match, ten shots per man at 200 yards, was won this evening by the Oxford team, who made 55 hits against 41 by Cambridge.

Six hundred and fifty-two marksmen fired in the first stage of the King's Prize to-day, as compared with 814 last year. The competitors included seven former winners of the gold medal, a number of silver and bronze medallists, the Canadian team, crowds of Service and ex-Servicemen, and other aspirants to fame. The veterans included Major Munday (late H.A.C.), who entered the contest for the 48th time. The shooting was not of the highest order. Possibles were, however, made at 200 yards by fourteen marksmen, including C.S.M. H. V. Northcote and Private T. V. Northcote (late 6th Manchesters), Lieut. A. Eccles (5th Seaforth Highlanders), Mr. D. H. Malcolm (late A. and S.H.), Capt. H. Douglas (6th Sherwoods), Major W. E. Stephenson (late 4th N.F.), C.S.M. T. F. Dunmore (Manchester R.C.), Private J. P. Rae (2nd V.B. Scottish Rifles), Capt. F. M. Davy (late 7th Londons), Sergt. W. Webster (late 4th City of London), and Trooper E. J. Smyth (late City of London Yeomanry). At 500 yards possibles were made by Sergt. A. G. Fulton, C.P.O. Morton, and R.S.M. Pettitt. Captain F. W. Chinoendale (Oxford L.I.), Capt. H. Douglas, and C.S.M. Dunmore were leading with 69 each at the end of firing at the second range.

America and Britain.

It was a foregone conclusion that the Republican majority of the Naval Committee of the United States Senate would support the charges made by Admiral Sims against the Democratic Administration's handling of the Navy in the first months of America's activity in the war. It was equally certain that the Democratic minority would come to the rescue of their own party and reject the Admiral's charges as wholly unproved. In the United States the necessity of maintaining party prestige is not permitted to be overridden by the interests of academic truth or by defunct issues of fact. A party decision is inevitable in any Congressional investigation of this character. The men who really could say whether Mr. Secretary Daniels and Admiral Benson were half-hearted or over-cautious in using the United States Navy to the best advantage are the Allied naval experts; but, as complete victory was finally assisted by America's efforts, they feel naturally that the subject is not one which they ought to discuss. Admiral Sims was from the first a staunch friend of the Allies, and they would not be human if they did not accept the findings of the Republican majority of the Committee and rejoice that the gallant sailor has been vindicated. They know, too, that Mr. Daniels and Admiral Benson were both anti-British in sentiment and were opposed at all times to America's entry into the war—that Admiral Benson, in particular, never lost an opportunity of assuring President Wilson that intervention would mean disaster. When the participation of the United States in the war became a certainty both these gentlemen lent their support to the cry that the United States should play a lone hand.

Knowing this, we are justified in assuming that, in spite of the partisan character of the Senate Committee's findings, the majority report is substantially correct. The deductions which we may make legitimately from that assumption are, however, other than those to which the American people are likely to apply themselves. We are justified in assuming what before the war was generally regarded as an accepted fact in British circles—that Britain's true friends and those who would be glad to see an English-speaking entente not merely from motives of policy, but because they like and trust the British people, are to be found in greatest number among the ranks of the Republican Party. Europe deified President Wilson because—if truth must be spoken—he appeared to demand some such ceremony in the name of the American people. Mr. Harding does not ask to be deified or eulogised; but he asks to be trusted, and British people can, and will, be the first to declare their faith in his sincerity of purpose and in the ideals that he and his party cherish. President Wilson, with the highest of motives, bequeathed to his country a generous crop of those bugbears of every American statesman from Washington downwards—entangling alliances. As the problems of Silesia and Angora and Persia and Thrace become more thorny and our political flesh more tender, we begin to look on America's withdrawal from the feast of unreason not as a desertion, but as the plainest manifestation of common-sense.

It is certain that, if there is real good to be done in the world and real progress to be made towards international harmony and the advancement of civilisation, the people of the United States will not withhold their great influence or their cordial assistance. They are, however, too sophisticated to sympathise with the doctrinaire; and, as experienced spectators at the political ringside, they will not be deceived by self-interest and ambition masquerading in the garments of justice and patriotism. On the other hand, only the self-satisfied or the ignorant will imagine that the American people, when advancing toward a common goal with us, will, or should, necessarily proceed by the same road or at the same pace that the older nations affect. In particular, we must be prepared at all times to study American international action in the light of American party politics. If, to the detriment of civilisation, one or other of the great American political parties should succeed in monopolising all the virtues and in exploring every known avenue of domestic and international betterment, the other party, rather than lend approval to the works of its rival, would enter cheerfully upon a career of uncompromising evil. Such things do not happen, however, either in the old world or in the new. The American political parties, like our own, have so much good in the worst of them and so much bad in the best of them that it ill behoves the stranger to enter into invidious comparisons or to assume that either Codlin or Short would prove the trustier friend. President Wilson played his part in world politics and President Harding will play his own. Only the historians of another generation will be in a position to assess the value of their respective efforts. In the present it is for Britain to give such an example of lofty statesmanship alike in domestic and international matters as will inspire the emulation of the United States Government and will invite the help of the American people.

Healthy England.

Sir George Newman's report "on the state of the public health" in 1920 is an encouraging document. It reveals a steady decline in the toll which disease exacts from the peoples of England and Wales and shows that the Ministry of Health, despite its imperfections, has made progress with its enormous tasks. The placing of the Poor Law Medical Service, the Public Health and Sanitary Service, and the Health Insurance Service under the Ministry's control has resulted in numerous reforms which have borne fruit sooner than many persons expected. The forces of preventive medicine are better organised to-day than they ever were before, and, almost without exception, the diseases which threaten the national welfare are declining in strength. This may not be a pure case of cause and effect, but it cannot be doubted that the Ministry's efforts have been at least an important factor. The general death-rate for the year was 12.4 per thousand—a figure which even twenty years ago would have been regarded as beyond the limit of hope. Even more astonishing was the infant death-rate. In 1911 it was 132 per thousand births. Last year it fell to eighty per thousand. Sir George Newman regards this as "perhaps the greatest triumph of preventive medicine." The improvement was due largely to the extension and good work of home nursing and health visitation, and especially of infant welfare centres. Ireland has her share of these institutions, and we trust that in his next report the Registrar-General will be able to record that they have been instrumental in reducing the Irish infantile mortality rate. So far as the common epidemic diseases are concerned, Sir George is able to say that "they are not now usually a chief cause of death." They are a serious cause of sickness, however, and one of the principal causes of permanent ill-health. In no instance is the improvement more marked than in that of tuberculosis. Compared with the figures for 1917, the number of cases of pulmonary tuberculosis in 1920 showed a reduction of over one-sixth. It was the lowest ever recorded. Tuberculosis remains one of the most formidable enemies of the race, but Sir George is not pessimistic about the outlook. He indicates the broad lines upon which the attack must be conducted. There is no beaten track, he says, in the further conquest of tuberculosis; but the victory can be secured by co-ordinated action along various paths and by surveying the complex problem as a whole in the spirit of preventive medicine. In other words, the attack must be pressed unceasingly at all points of the line; the individual must be educated in the ways of health and range himself alongside the medical profession. Under those conditions not merely tuberculosis, but every other form of disease which afflicts the country, can be beaten. The Ministry's part is to direct operations in such a way that "every pound expended on medical services must be made to yield the full value of a pound." That is an excellent sentiment, and, if the Ministry can fulfil its task, it will deserve well of the nation.

Street Accidents.

The number of street accidents in any city depends on the traffic laws, the skill of the police, and the value which the community sets on human life. Dublin, in normal times, refuses to be hurried, and, although the rule of the road is often broken, street accidents are comparatively few. The Londoner is an orderly person, wonderfully amenable to discipline, and his police are the best regulators of traffic in the world. Therefore, the proportion of street accidents to the vast population of London is very small. Different conditions prevail in the United States, where motor traffic "gangs its ain gait" and life is held cheaply. It is said that on every day in the year at least one person is killed in the streets of Chicago. Now we learn to our surprise that Paris—the ville lumière, the most civilised of cities, the place which cultivates supremely the art of living—is a competitor for Chicago's bad eminence. The statistics for 1920 are truly startling. In that year there were 60,375 accidents in the streets of Paris—a daily average of 165. Nearly 15,000 persons were injured and 120 were killed on the spot. Motor cars accounted for 73 deaths and for nearly 9,000 injuries, horse traffic for twenty deaths, and tramways and motor omnibuses for twenty-four. By general consent the taxi-cabs are the chief offenders. They drive along and across the boulevards at reckless speed and constantly miss one another by inches. The pedestrian is left to his own devices and crosses the road at his grave peril. Clearly, something is very wrong with the regulations. There is a growing demand for their reform and for a stricter control of traffic by the police. If her streets come to be a place for only two classes of people—the quick and the dead—Paris will lose her fame and profit as the pleasure-ground of Europe.

Band Music.

Ireland has an interest in a new clause which was added yesterday to the Finance Bill in its report stage. The clause exempts from payment of the entertainment tax exhibitions and shows which are held by societies for the promotion of such purposes as education, agriculture, and public health. The House of Commons was grateful to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, but its gratitude was premature; for he hastened to add that the employment of a band would bring the show or exhibition within the scope of the tax. His weak explanation of this arbitrary ruling was that "you must draw the line somewhere." If bands were exempted, Sir Robert Horne argued, how could exemption be refused to a troupe of Pierrots? This is the argument of a legal Philistine. It puts the British Government on a lower intellectual plane than the Chinaman, who, like the ancient Greeks, insists on the educational value of music. We do not suppose that the new clause will be decisive of the presence or absence of bands at the coming Horse Show. It will mean a good deal, however, for the organisers of smaller shows and exhibitions throughout Ireland, and it will deprive our professional musicians of a help which would have been very welcome to them. They have had a hard time of late, and the public, too, has missed the music which formerly enlivened its indoor and al fresco gatherings at shows, exhibitions, and bazaars. We admit that the Chancellor must draw the line somewhere, but he might have drawn it below the sounding brass and tinkling cymbal.

PRIME MINISTER AND "THE TIMES."

OFFICIAL FAVOUR WITHHELD.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy asked the Prime Minister whether an order had been issued to refuse official news to certain daily and weekly newspapers in this country, and what was the reason for this discrimination, seeing that official and semi-official information was issued for the benefit of the public and not for the benefit of certain selected newspapers. Similar questions were put by Mr. Hogge and Captain Wedgwood Benn.

Mr. Lloyd George—Official information is rendered available to the Press in two ways. The greater part of it—the announcements of Government departments, communiqués regarding policy, whether official or unofficial—is issued to the newspapers through the news agencies as a matter of routine. For some years past it has been customary for facilities to be given to representatives of newspapers to visit Government offices and make inquiry on their own behalf on the events of the day. These courtesies are normally extended to all newspapers, without regard to their attitude to the Government, and The Times took full advantage of these privileges. But courtesy should beget courtesy. (Hear, hear.) I need hardly explain that official information is available to The Times through the ordinary agencies. The fullest courtesy has at all times been extended to its representatives. The fact that it has pursued a course of virulent opposition, and notably to the head of the Government, has not in the least influenced the Government departments in the civilities extended to its representatives, and personally I have never made a single effort to induce the withdrawal of a single civility from The Times or its associated newspapers, the Daily Mail, the Evening News, and the Weekly Dispatch. On Wednesday, the 13th inst., however, The Times published a personal attack of a peculiarly offensive and mischievous character on the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, with special reference to the momentous and delicate negotiations on which he was engaged in pursuance of a policy representing, not only the Government of the United Kingdom, but the Prime Ministers of the Dominions and the representatives of India. Such an attack at such a time seemed to us to fall below all the normal standards of English journalism. (Hear, hear.) I pass over the question of taste, but it was difficult to pass over an attempt to create a personal prejudice in foreign countries against a British public servant of high repute at a time when he was charged with the most responsible and anxious negotiations on behalf of the whole Empire. It is not too much to say that no reputable British journal of any party would have published such an attack. Fortunately, it is without precedent. In spite of its record in recent years, The Times is still supposed in many circles abroad to represent both educated and official opinion in this country. Here we know that it has long ceased to hold that position, but that fact is only gradually becoming known abroad. It is, therefore, essential that the British Government should as a whole mark strongly its disapproval of such an attack on the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs at such a critical moment. Official information is, of course, available as before to The Times, but the special favour accorded it by tradition in the past is entirely withdrawn.

Mr. Thomas—Does not the right hon. gentleman think that the Government took the worst possible way of showing its disapproval, and conveyed the impression that it only gave official news in return for the support of papers? (Cries of "No.") We all know that it is not so, but is not that the only inference that can be drawn?

Mr. Lloyd George—I made it quite clear in the answer that there is no distinction drawn between the journals that support the Government and the journals that do not in the facilities afforded to them for information in the public interest. I do not use the word "challenge," but I invite any journal that regularly opposes the Government to contradict that statement. They are received always with the greatest civility. Every information available for publication is always given them. Their representatives are treated with great courtesy; but this was so gross an attack, so far beyond the limits of ordinary fair criticism, and against the Secretary of State for Foregn Affairs when he was conducting the most delicate negotiations, that an attack of that kind might really imperil the negotiations.

Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy—May I ask if the right hon. gentleman will endeavour to defend the member for Paisley and Viscount Grey from attacks in his newspapers, and since when was the head of the Government, the Prime Minister, to be immune from attack in the Press?

Mr. Lloyd George—I stated specifically that although I had been attacked in The Times in a way which is thoroughly well known I have never interfered in the slightest degree with any facility extended to them, and I think that the hon. gentleman might have acknowledged the fact; but I do regard an attack upon the Secretary for Foreign Affairs at a juncture of this kind, and an attack of that character, as being in a totally different category.

Captain Wedgwood Benn—Is it not a fact that the facilities referred to are given by public servants at the public expense, and why therefore should the Prime Minister differentiate between the papers that he likes and the papers that he does not like?

Mr. Lloyd George—That is a very improper and unfair observation. There are journals that constantly attack the Government, and I am not supposed to like those. But I invite the hon gentleman to point to a single journal attacking the Government from which we have withdrawn any facility, although their attacks have been incessant. They are attacks upon policy, and occasionally attacks on the Prime Minister, but a Prime Minister is here to be attacked.

Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy—You ought to welcome them.

CLEARING UP THE COAL STRIKE.

The Executive of the Miners' Federation met in London yesterday for the first time since the settlement of the coal strike. Among the subjects for discussion were complaints of the failure of some owners to observe the agreement, and of men being deprived of privileges previously enjoyed. The question of unemployment was also under consideration, as well as the agenda for the next conference of the Federation, which was proposed for July 25.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
MONDAY NIGHT.

To-day was the third anniversary of the day when the Allied fortunes began to rise in France. Marshal Foch began his great counter-attack on July 18th, 1918, a movement which led to the absolute defeat of the Germans within four months.

The great Church of St. Mary-le-Bow, in Cheapside, yesterday was the scene of a strange Service for an English church. The day was the third anniversary of the murder of the Tsar and his family, and a Requiem was sung by the Very Rev. Eugene Smirnoff, the Russian arch-priest in London. Owing to the great number of Russians anxious to attend the Service the Russian Church was found to be much too small, and the Bishop of London gave permission for the Service to take place in Bow Church, which was lent by Canon Masterman. Beautiful vestments, great lighted candles, clouds of incense, and a packed standing congregation were features of an interesting Service.

Asked to-day whether the Government intended to appoint another Minister without portfolio during the present session, the Prime Minister said that the answer was in the negative. Mr. Hogge and other Opposition members then sought to know how the Government was going to "carry on" without the assistance of a Minister whom only a few weeks ago it had described as indispensable. The Speaker, whose dislike of "supplementaries" is notorious, disallowed the questions as "too argumentative."

Exception was taken by Mr. Carlyon Bellairs to the form of Dr. Addison's "personal explanation" on the occasion of his retirement on the ground that he had not followed the invariable rule in such cases and obtained the Sovereign's permission to make it. Mr. Chamberlain said that the rule was, undoubtedly, as the hon. member had stated it, and that the King had been graciously pleased (after the event, apparently), to approve the course that had been adopted on the present occasion.

Mr. Balfour made one of his appearances in the House of Commons in order to answer a couple of questions relating to the effect upon the position of the League of Nations of the forthcoming conference at Washington. Mr. Bottomley suggested that the League should suspend its activities in regard to disarmament and the Pacific in order to avoid any possibility of disagreement with the conference. But Mr. Balfour thought it quite unnecessary to make any representations to that effect, since the League would, of course, bear the conference in mind, and he told Sir J. D. Rees, another persistent decrier of the League, that it was neither desirable nor possible for the League to postpone its work because questions in which it was interested were being discussed elsewhere.

The only Irish question was put by Colonel Walter Guinness, who asked whether the quadrupling of local rates in some parts of Ireland had caused the net receipts of property to be a minus quantity, and did the Government propose to take any steps. Sir Hamar Greenwood said that he was not aware of the facts.

Nothing was said about the negotiations for an Irish settlement; but Mr. Lloyd George gave some negative indication of the course they are taking when he said that he did not think it would be possible to deal with the question of Federal Devolution next year.

While the peace negotiations continue it is understood that no questions concerning them are to be asked in the House of Commons—a very wise precaution in face of the lack of restraint on the part of some inquisitive members. Once things are in train the Prime Minister will make a statement to the House revealing, as far as he is able, the extent of the negotiations and their prospects.

On the report stage of the Finance Bill the Chancellor of the Exchequer moved a new clause exempting from the entertainment tax agricultural shows and trade or public health exhibitions which were not run for a profit. The question whether the presence of a band at these shows took them out of the exemption was discussed at some length. The Chancellor's view was that music constituted an entertainment in respect of which duty was payable, and he refused to be moved by the plea of Mr. Turton that it was impossible to carry on these shows without some attraction apart from the exhibition. The clause was carried in favour of the Government by 228 to 68.

Two new clauses, which were agreed to, were necessitated by the recent destruction of the Dublin Custom House. The effect of them was to enable the authorities to call for fresh returns from persons liable to death duty or corporation profits duty in cases where the original returns had been destroyed.

The question of club taxation was raised by an amendment moved by Mr. R. Richardson to reduce by 50 per cent. the additional duty on intoxicating liquors supplied in clubs. The Chancellor of the Exchequer fully recognised the anomalies of a system which involved a tax upon a tax, but here again the stress of the financial situation was advanced as an argument against any present relief. He promised, however, to address himself to the discovery of some other method of club taxation. Mr. Clynes made an earnest appeal for some concessions, and was supported by members from both sides of the House; but the only consolation the Chancellor could offer was that the matter would be reconsidered on the introduction of the Licensing Bill.

The Solicitor-General for Ireland has, on behalf of the Chief Secretary, forwarded to Mr. T. E. McConnell the following information in answer to a question put by that gentleman last week:—"The total number of houses completed under the provisions of the Irish Land (Sailors and Soldiers) Act, 1919, is three. Two hundred and fifty are in a less advanced state of erection, and tenders for five hundred and ten additional houses have been accepted. In addition, the Land Commission have improved existing buildings on holdings provided under the Act. The accommodation consists of a living room, three bedrooms, a scullery, kitchen, and the usual out-offices. The rents of the houses have not yet been fixed, but in the case of houses purchased the rents charged, including taxes, vary from 15s. to 22s. 6d. per week. The construction of the houses is under the control of the Local Government Board and the Board of Works. The only control exercised by the local authority is their statutory right to see that local building by-laws are complied with. Of the one hundred and seventy-four houses allocated to Belfast and district schemes have been confirmed for one hundred and ten and tenders accepted for eleven of these. I can assure the hon. member that I have personally impressed on the departments concerned the necessity of speeding up the work, and I am satisfied that everything possible is being done in the adverse conditions which exist."

Last week the Prime Minister informed an inquiring member that no arrangements had yet been made as to the representation of this country at the coming Washington Conference on the limitation of armaments and peace in the Pacific. It seems to be generally assumed, however, that our representative, notwithstanding the objections of The Times, will be the Prime Minister himself and Marquis Curzon.

CHINA AND THE PACIFIC CONFERENCE.

Mr. Lloyd George informed Sir Charles Townshend in the House of Commons yesterday that the Chinese Government were understood to have accepted the invitation to attend the coming Washington Conference.

ROMAN CATHOLIC BIBLE CONGRESS.

THE QUESTION OF INSPIRATION.

A Cambridge telegram, dated Monday, says:—The Catholic Bible Congress settled down this morning to an earnest investigation of Biblical topics. A number of interesting lectures were given by scholarly divines of the Roman Catholic Church. There has not been any eagerness on the part of Protestants to accept the invitation offered by the Congress to participate in the debates. At the close of one of the lectures, however, Mr. G. G. Coulton, University lecturer in English, said that he would reply to it through the columns of the Press.

Last night the Archbishop of Birmingham, preaching at the Church of Our Lady and the English Martyrs, said that the solicitude of the Catholic Church for the honour of God's work had been misinterpreted, and the charge had been brought against her that she was afraid of the pure and unadulterated word of God, and that she strove to hide it from her adherents. He hoped that the Congress would do something to lessen that misapprehension, and would teach people how desirous the Catholic Church was of promoting, fostering, and encouraging an earnest study of the Gospels.

IS THE BIBLE INSPIRED?

The Bishop of Southwark presided over the first lecture this morning, when Father Hugh Pope, sometime Professor of Sacred Scripture in Rome, dealt with the issue as to whether the Bible is an inspired book. Father Pope pointed to the extraordinary comprehensiveness of the Bible, which took sixteen hundred years to write. When they realised what a gigantic thing the Bible was, they would appreciate what a tremendous statement it was to say—"I believe in the Bible." It meant that they were saying they believed that which men of different nationalities wrote in different periods of the world's history. Why do we believe it? asked Father Pope. The answer constantly given was because they believed it was the revealed Word of God. Father Pope said that he once caused consternation by saying that the Bible was not revealed. One old gentleman exclaimed—"I always thought you Catholics were the limit, but now I know it." Father Pope added that the Bible enshrined in writing the few revelations God made to man. Frequently the accusation was made that the Bible opened with a lie, insomuch as it stated in the Book of Genises that God created light on the second day, and did not create the sun until the fourth day. A literal acceptance of that would make God into a very good specimen of Baron Von Munchaussen. Father Pope went on to analyse various incidents in the Bible, referring particularly to the story of the tax-gatherer, and to the details given by St. John of the Last Supper. It necessitated tremendous credulity to believe such naratives, but they did so because they had almost certain proof that these works were inspired, and that the authors were definitely illumined by God as to what they were to write, and their wills were moved to write it. God could be regarded as the author of the whole, but the individual writers could be regarded as the authors of their own books.

THE MOSAIC LAW.

The Rev T. E. Bird, Professor of Holy Scripture at Oscott College, Birmingham, lectured on the Mosiac Law, and urged that the building of Solomon's temple could be taken as a recognised landmark in the history of Israel. Nearly the whole of the manhood of Israel were conscripted to carry out the work, and were drafted in bodies to fell timber, quarry stones, etc. In modern values the building cost over one thousand million pounds to erect, and seven and a half years were devoted to this enterprise before the dedication of this national temple. He pointed out that without the Mosaic Law the institutional religion of the Hebrews was without a basis. The speaker dealt at length with blood prohibition, and said that even to this day the pious Jew would only eat meat from which the blood had been extracted. Originally blood-prohibition seemed to have been directed against manslaughter.

Subsequently Father R. A. Knox, of St. Edmund's College, Ware, lectured on the organised Church in the New Testament.

ANGLO-AMERICAN CO-OPERATION.

A WORKING REALITY.

VIEWS OF MR. P. D. ARMOUR.

In an interview yesterday with a representative of the Press Association, Mr. P. D. Armour, a partner in the Chicago packing firm, spoke hopefully of the improvement in Anglo-American relations which will follow President Harding's initiative, and predicted that Great Britain was fast coming to the end of her industrial troubles. He also expressed great satisfaction with the final report of the sub-committee on British meat supplies, which he declared to be the first committee of its kind to discover and publish the truth about the American packers.

"Except during the war," Mr. Armour said, "I never admired your people more than during the coal stoppage. Their coolness and restraint, their nerve and unity, were simply wonderful. The damage done by the strike, in my opinion, will soon be repaired. I have seen enough during my stay here to know that business conditions are sound, and that in a very few months the trade revival will be general and sustained. As a large exporter of American products to the British market I take a decidedly cheerful view of prospects here." "Another thing that has delighted me has been to see the response of your people and Government to President Harding's suggestion of a conference on disarmament and the problems of the Pacific. That and the move towards an Irish peace mean that Anglo-American co-operation will soon be a working reality, and that the relations between the two countries ought rapidly to become what every sensible Englishman and every sensible American would like to have them."

"I am merely a business man, and not a politician, but I think I can say this much with some confidence—you can trust our President; he means what he says; he is not a visionary, but a man of good heart and good sense, who only takes up practicable projects, and, having once taken them up, never lets go of them; he is 'out' to do what he can to forward the peace of the world and the restoration of Europe; he means to make America once more an effective force in world affairs without sacrificing her independence or her Constitution, and he sees—and every business man in the country agrees with him—that the first essential step to this end is that Great Britain and the United States should work frankly together."

Mr. Armour added that one of the most obvious conditions of Anglo-American co-operation is that American firms should be permitted to trade as freely throughout the British Empire as British firms are permitted to trade throughout the United States.

UNDER SECRETARY FOR AIR.

The King has approved the appointment of Lord Gorell to be Under-Secretary to the Air Ministry, in succession to the Marquis of Londonderry.

FATAL BATHING ACCIDENT.

TWO BROTHERS DROWNED.

A sad bathing accident occurred at Jamestown village, near Carrick-on-Shannon, on Sunday, when two young men named Joseph and William Gilbane (brothers), of Aughirman, were drowned. Both the men, who were sons of a farmer living near the town, decided to take a bathe in the Shannon. On entering the water they swam in different directions, and at a point where a whirlpool exists as a result of springs in the river, William got into difficulties. Joseph went to his assistance, and the onlookers only understood the seriousness of the situation when both suddenly disappeared. The bodies were quickly recovered from the river, but artificial respiration was tried unsuccessfully.

WEATHER CONDITIONS IN IRELAND.

SERIOUS EFFECTS OF THE DROUGHT.

A number of sheep have died on farms in Castlerea district for want of water. Ponds and rivers that have not been seen dry for many years are now completely dried up. The River Suck, at several points, is almost dry. Barrels of water have to be carted several miles for stock.

When the question of a water supply at Hazelhatch was under discussion at the Celbridge District Council, Mr. Shortt, Clerk, said that they had diphtheria there last year, and the water was very badly needed. There was a water famine in the district, he added. Hazelhatch is situate just within the County Dublin, at the Kildare border.

Wexford Agricultural Society have decided to postpone their annual show from August 4th to September 1st owing to the continuous drought.

Yesterday was one of the hottest days so far this summer in Dublin. The thermometer registered 96 in the sun, and 72 in the shade.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—An anti-cyclone belt is now established over the Kingdom, and the barometer is changing very little. The weather is likely to be fine and very warm for two or three days, generally, but there is still some possibility of thundery showers.

Ireland, N.W., N.E., S.E., and S.W.—Light variable, or North-Easterly winds; mainly fine, but perhaps local thundery showers; visibility mainly good; local haze; very warm.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

IRISH PEACE TALK.

Writing to-day the Parliamentary Correspondent of The Times states:—There was yesterday in the political atmosphere surrounding the conversations at 10 Downing street a tenseness which indicated that the principals had come to grips with the capital difficulties of the Irish problem. Apparently Mr. de Valera and the other representatives of Sinn Fein are remaining in London, but the next meeting of the Prime Minister and Mr. de Valera will not take place until Thursday. It may be inferred that there is a definite relation between the return of Sir James Craig to Belfast and the time fixed for the resumption of the de Valera conversations. In a statement issued last night before he left London, Sir James Craig intimated that he was returning to take up the ordinary business of government in Belfast. He leaves behind him Mr. Pollock, the Minister of Finance in the Belfast Parliament, and Lord Londonderry, Minister of Education, and will himself be ready to return at any time if circumstances require. Meanwhile, in language that seems rigid and unyielding, he says in effect that Northern Ireland has adopted, and is acting upon, the Sinn Fein policy of self-determination, and that the North has no concern in the arrangements which Great Britain may make with the South for self-determination there. The hope that can be gleaned from his statement is contained in the sentence that follows: It reads:—"When this is accomplished I can promise cordial co-operation on equal terms with Southern Ireland in any matters affecting our common interest." This statement has the essential character of a manifesto to the people of the six North-Eastern counties. It must be read in that light. It insists on autonomy for the six counties as the groundwork of any future arrangement for the government of Ireland, but, given that, it welcomes the possibility of co-operation with the South in any matters of common interest. The Sinn Fein position is that it is ready to concede to the North all the rights it now possesses in the "Better Government of Ireland Act," and even more, provided the essential unity of Ireland is recognised. The question underlying Sir James Craig's manifesto is: Does the North absolutely insist on partition? The fundamental object of the conversations, therefore, remains to reconcile the Sinn Fein claim to unity with safeguards for all that Belfast feels to be at stake in the recognition of that claim. Sir James Craig's statement does not indicate that, as far as Belfast is concerned, much progress has been made. On the other hand, it does not read in its concluding passages like the final word in a hopeless quest.

AIR ROUTES.

Discussing in a leading article the appointment of a special committee of representatives of the British and Dominion Governments to report on the cost of Empire airship routes, and on services by means of aeroplanes, The Times observes:—Mr. Winston Churchill is its chairman—a choice which is admirable in more than one way. He has been Secretary of State for Air. If any living British statesman has the imagination, resolution, and courage essential for the work of presiding over such a committee, it is he. He knows the world beyond these islands and outside Europe as few of his colleagues know it. Critics of his air policy say that he is prejudiced in some respects. Beyond doubt, he has never, for example, concealed his disbelief in and dislike for airships, but he is not singular in this. Many wise and prudent men doubt whether airships will prove able to serve regular long distance routes, over tempestuous oceans and under torrid suns. Others, granted the capacity of airships to do all this, believe that the expense of building and maintaining them would be fatal to their commercial success. These are legitimate doubts. No reasonable man will blame Mr. Churchill for entertaining them. He, more than most men, will be quick to see what is to be said on the other side—that airships, if they succeed, are the only air vehicles fit for service above the ocean highways of the Empire, that they should at least be fully tried before they are discarded, and that the results of their success would be beneficial beyond calculation to the whole Empire, especially to the distant Dominions—Australia and New Zealand. The Dominion Prime Ministers, Mr. Hughes particularly, have done great service in insisting that the service of the air is far more important as a revolution in transport than as a military arm, concludes The Times. That is an axiom of sound air policy, and the Dominion representatives on the Commitee may be trusted to insist upon its paramount importance. The result should be a complete shifting of the balance in British air policy which—still a relic of the war—has hitherto persisted in giving pride of place to the military adjuncts of civil air transport.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

Yesterday was described as one of the quietest Mondays experienced for a long time past, says The Times. Hardly a ripple disturbed the surface of most markets, and movements in prices were of small importance. Paris reopened after a prolonged holiday in a somewhat bearish mood, and the further break in the New York exchange was not liked. Apart from the continued demand for some of the new scrips there were few signs of any activity on the part of the public, and the speculative markets were in a state of suspended animation.

OTHER MORNING PAPERS.

A PROFOUND IMPRESSION.

Referring to Sir James Craig's statement, the Parliamentary Correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says:—The declaration by the Ulster Cabinet naturally created a profound impression in Parliamentary circles, and came as a disagreeable shock to those who had, with an optimism which the circumstances have never warranted, looked forward to the early assembling of a formal conference. Persons in close touch with the proceedings have not from the first disguised the fact that grave difficulties had to be encountered and that it was unwise to encourage a too sanguine feeling. Naturally, Sir James Craig's statement, which bears evidence of having been drawn up with extreme care, was minutely studied, particularly in connection with the terms in which he refers to possible future co-operation. The most hopeful commentary on the declaration was that it does not absolutely close the door; and the phrase, "Our services are available at any moment," is fastened upon as indicating that Ulster might still, in the circumstances outlined in the statement, take part in the negotiations. It is established that there has not been a breakdown, and the chances of a continuance of the peace effort will naturally be easier to estimate after Thursday's meeting. Mr. Lloyd George does not despair of a solution, but the difficulties are great.

The Daily Telegraph Parliamentary Correspondent writes:—The reason for the return of the Ulster delegation is that the Cabinet of Northern Ireland have decided that Ulster can take no part in the present negotiations between Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. de Valera. There is, therefore, no prospect of an immediate round-table conference.

ULSTER AND SELF-DETERMINATION.

In a leading article, the Morning Post says: Mr. de Valera demands from us what he refuses to Ulster. Why should we grant what he refuses? We say the British Isles must be one. He says Ireland must be one. Sir James Craig might, and does, say that the six counties must be one. If we are tyrannical in rejecting the claim of Ireland to "self-determination," then Mr. de Valera is tyrannical in rejecting the claim of Ulster to "self-determination." We have often noticed in life that people who are loudest in demanding right for themselves are the first to deny it to others. Mr. de Valera declaims against the tyranny of a British nation which dares to regard Ireland as part of itself. But Ireland, in exactly the same way, regards Ulster as part of itself. The only difference is that we have legality on our side, and Mr. de Valera has force upon his side.

A HISTORICAL DOCUMENT.

Writing on the statement made by Sir James Craig before leaving London for Belfast yesterday, the Political Correspondent of the Morning Post says:—Politicians of long experience to whom the statement has been submitted regard it as a masterpiece of exposition, and most of them as a clear indication that the "peace" negotiations are not likely to get much farther. Mr. de Valera, by his declaration of the newspapers on Sunday, that he had compromised on nothing, and that "the self-determination of the Irish nation must be recognised," gave himself into the hands of the loyalists of Ulster.

IRISH PEACE NOT YET IN SIGHT.

The Political Correspondent of the Daily Chronicle writes:—I learn that Mr. Lloyd George's conversations at No. 10 Downing street yesterday afternoon, first with Mr. de Valera and then with Sir James Craig and the members of the Ulster Cabinet, did not advance matters. For the present no common ground has been discovered which will lead up to a meeting of the delegations of both South and North with the Government. In his first conversations with the Prime Minister Mr. de Valera dealt chiefly, I understand, with Irish ideals—such as the unity of Ireland and "self-determination." It was when it came to translating ideals into action that practical difficulties emerged, which were not unexpected. The Prime Minister does not despair of the situation, and is hopeful that common ground may yet be found.

THURSDAY'S MEETING.

The Lobby Correspondent of the London Daily Express writes:—The postponement of the further negotiations until Thursday has no reference to any difficulty raised by Ulster. Mr. Lloyd George has to devote the whole of to-day and to-morrow to the work of the Imperial Conference, as some of the Dominion Premiers wish to leave for home immediately. Mr. Meighen is due to sail for Canada on Thursday. The Government realise that Sir James Craig's action complicates matters, but hold that it need not interfere with the efforts of Mr. de Valera and the Prime Minister to work out a settlement which might be referred to Ulster later. It is believed that Mr. Lloyd George, after further negotiations, may make a definite offer on behalf of the Government, and invite Mr. de Valera to submit it to Dail Eireann. A point not to be overlooked is that Sir James Craig agreed to come to London and to take part in a triangular conference, and Mr. de Valera declined to meet him in that way here.

FRANCO-BRITISH RELATIONS.

The London Daily Express announces it is officially informed that the relations between Great Britain and France are becoming strained owing to differences on the Silesian question. The journal adds that the French are urging the British Government to increase the number of their troops there. This the British Government flatly refuse to do. They are satisfied that no necessity exists for such a step.

THE FINANCE BILL.

Commenting on the discussion of the Finance Bill in the House of Commons yesterday, the Daily Chronicle says:—Sir Robert Horne's position was that of a Chancellor who has not much to give away. If the Labour world settles down to peaceful work, as at last seems probable, we believe that the burden of the present Budget will not prevent a substantial trade revival before many more months have passed.

PACIFIC CONFERENCE.

The Daily Mail Political Correspondent writes that it is possible that the Pacific Conference may take place in London this autumn.

UPPER SILESIA.

SUGGESTED REFERENCE TO SUPREME COUNCIL.

In view of the suggestion made by M. Briand for the meeting of experts in regard to Upper Silesia, Reuter's Agency learns that the French Premier was invited to put forward more definite ideas, while the British view was that this expert inquiry would probably not lead to any definite result. In consequence, it was still felt that a meeting of the Supreme Council should deal with the matter at the earliest opportunity, and, that being so, the experts should meet at once and present a report to the Supreme Council by Sunday next. M. Briand agrees with the British Government that experts could not accomplish much of real value by that date. He states, moreover, that the situation in Upper Silesia is so bad that it would be quite impossible to enforce any decisions that might be reached. It would be useless, therefore, to summon a Supreme Council for this month, and as for many reasons August is not convenient, he is unable to propose any date. In the meantime, the French hold that the Allied forces on the spot should be increased, M. Briand himself being prepared to despatch a fresh French division.

ATTACK ON A FRENCH OFFICER.

A Paris telegram, dated Monday, states:—According to a Beuthen telegram to the Petit Parisien yet another attack has been made on a French officer in Upper Silesia, this time at Ratibor. It appears that on Saturday last a party of storm troops attacked the hotel where Lieutenant Vibout, the officer in question, who is attached to the official controlling the Ratibor district, was standing. Realising that his life was in danger, the officer fled with his wife to Oppeln.

A message from Oppeln denies the report that an attempt has been made on the life of General Le Rond, and says that the General is in excellent health, and is making a tour of inspection of Upper Silesia in satisfactory circumstances.

BRITISH INDEBTEDNESS TO AMERICA.

THE ACCEPTANCE OF GERMAN BONDS.

A letter from ex-President Wilson to Mr. Lloyd George declaring that the United States could not consider a proposal to cancel or exchange Great Britain's indebtedness to America was placed on Congressional record to-day by Senator Lodge, says a Reuter telegram dated Washington, Monday. The letter bore a date in October, 1920, and was submitted to the Foreign Relations Committee by the former Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. D. F. Houston said that suggestions looking to cancellation or exchange were made to the former President in Paris, and the communication was apparently a reply to the British Premier's letter published last week in the Senate Finance Committee hearings.

In the course of the ensuing debate, Senator Reed (Democrat) asked—Has there been any correspondence or negotiation with reference to our Government accepting any German bonds as reparation bonds?

Senator Wadsworth replied—I cannot recall any official communication of any tentative agreement between Great Britain, France, and the United States that they would take German bonds in payment for the amounts that Belgium had borrowed up to Armistice Day.

RUSSIAN ATTACK ON ARMENIA.

Reuter's Agency learns that the British Minister at Teheran announces on the authority of the Armenian representative there, that during the past fortnight large Russian forces have been making fierce attacks on Zangezur, the population of which is defending itself with heroism. The villages are being devastated and blood is flowing freely. At Erivan thousands of the population are imprisoned. The Consul at Tabriz announces that the Bolshevists completely defeated the Armenians at Zangezur.

STEAMER WRECKED IN THE ST. LAWRENCE.

An Ogdensburg City (New York) telegram dated Sunday, states:—Steamers have been busy the whole evening taking off the 450 passengers of the Rapids King, which, while bound from Prescott, Ontario, to Montreal, broke her rudder chain in the Long Sault rapids of the St. Lawrence yesterday evening. The swirling waters turned the big boat completely round the rocks, and tore a large hole in her side, before she beached near Barnhardts Island, a sparsely inhabited district. The passengers, who were mostly tourists, at first showed signs of panic, but quiet was quickly restored, although most of them spent an anxious night. Early this morning a lifeboat, capable of holding seven persons, started trips to the shore, making three trips an hour. Hundreds of sightseers motored to the scene during the day to watch the rescue work. No lives were lost. The vessel is being abandoned.

FUNERAL OF MR. HARRY HAWKER.

In presence of a large assemblage of mourners, the funeral of Mr. Harry Hawker, the famous aviator, took place yesterday afternoon at Hook Churchyard, near Surbiton. Captain L. F. Peaty, Mr. Hawker's brother-in-law, conveyed the body from the private mortuary at Kingston, where it had been lying, in the late airman's motor car to Mr. Hawker's residence, from which the funeral took place. There were innumerable floral tributes, many designed to represent aeroplane wings, propellers, etc. The Air Ministry, the Royal Aero Club, and the Australian Prime Minister were represented among the mourners. The widow and two children attended the private service while the burial was taking place, at Horsley Towers, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Sopwith.

PEACE MOVEMENT.

PREMIER TALKS WITH IRISH LEADERS.

NORTHERN DELEGATION COMES HOME.

SIR J. CRAIG'S STATEMENT.

OFFICIAL REPORT.

At the close of yesterday's meeting between the Prime Minister and Mr. de Valera at 10 Downing street the following official statement was issued to the Press:—

"The conversations between Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. de Valera were continued to-day at 4.15 p.m., and lasted till 6 o'clock. They will be resumed on Thursday."

"On Mr. de Valera's departure Mr. Lloyd George saw Sir James Craig and his colleagues, who left at 7 p.m."

VICEROY VISITS PREMIER.

Viscount FitzAlan, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, who has been indisposed in London, had an interview with Mr. Lloyd George at 10 Downing street yesterday.

SIR JAMES CRAIG'S ATTITUDE.

"WELL SATISFIED."

Sir James Craig, Prime Minister of the Northern Parliament, left Euston by the 7.45 train to-night to return to Belfast, says a Press Association message dated Monday. He was accompanied by Mr. Andrews, Minister of Labour; Mr. Archdale, Minister of Agriculture; and Colonel Spender, Secretary of the Cabinet.

In response to a request by a representative of the Press Association, Sir James Craig made the following statement:—

"I am returning home, well satisfied with the efforts being made towards peace. Mr. de Valera has broken silence and cleared the ground by his statement to this morning's Press, that he proposes to found his claim upon the recognition of the right of 'self-determination.' By an overwhelming majority in our recent election—the constitutional method of expressing 'self-determination'—the people of Northern Ireland have determined their own Parliament, which was opened by His Most Gracious Majesty in person. Mr. de Valera and his colleagues have already admitted the right of such 'self-determination' on the part of Northern Ireland by the fact that they themselves stood as candidates for the Northern Parliament and submitted their policy of 'no partition.' This was the only issue placed before the electorate, and 'no partition' was rejected by the largest majority which, as far as I am aware, has ever been secured at a general election in any part of the world. Such being the true facts, it now merely remains for Mr. de Valera and the British people to come to terms regarding the area outside of that of which I am Prime Minister. The people of Northern Ireland, on behalf of whom I speak, while claiming in the most absolute way possible—as has been done—to determine their own fate, do not make any claim whatever to determine the terms of settlement which Great Britain shall make with Southern Ireland. When this is accomplished I can promise cordial co-operation on equal terms with Southern Ireland in any matters affecting our common interest. Having reached the present stage, I go back to Ireland to carry on the practical work of government. I feel that our interests are ably represented in the Imperial Parliament, and, of course, our services are available at any moment."

In response to further questions, Sir James Craig said that he had nothing to add at the present moment to the foregoing statement. He remarked, with a smile: "I do not suppose it will interest the British public, who are keenly anxious about the settlement of the Irish question; but the only other observation I have to make is that I devoutly hope it will not be so oppressively hot on this journey as on the occasion of my last return to Ireland."

A DAY OF CONFERENCES.

A Press Association telegram, dated London, Monday, says:—Sir James Craig has had several conferences to-day with the members of the Cabinet of Northern Ireland, who are in London.

Mr. de Valera arrived at 10 Downing street shortly after 4.15 this afternoon for his further conference with Mr. Lloyd George. He was accompanied by Messrs. Barton and O'Brien, and was cheered by a crowd at the bottom of Downing street, as he drove to the Prime Minister's residence.

Mr. Lloyd George had arrived only a few minutes earlier from the House of Commons.

Mr. de Valera was shown to the Cabinet Room immediately on his arrival.

SIR JAMES CRAIG SUMMONED.

At six o'clock this evening, Sir James Craig, Prime Minister of the Northern Parliament, and the Marquis of Londonderry arrived at 10 Downing street, having been sent for by the Prime Minister.

An interesting circumstance about their presence was that they arrived while Mr. de Valera was still engaged with the Prime Minister. That circumstance would seem to point to a joint conference, but as to this no official information is available at the moment.

The Marquis of Londonderry walked to No. 10 Downing street, and Sir James Craig drove up immediately afterwards, accompanied by his secretary, Mr. Blackmore.

A few minutes after the arrival of Sir James Craig, Mr. H. M. Pollock, Minister of Finance, Mr. Archdale, Minister of Agriculture, and Mr. Andrews, Labour Minister, all of the Northern Cabinet, arrived on foot and entered No. 10.

Five minutes later Mr. de Valera, accompanied by Mr. Art O'Brien and Mr. Robert C. Barton, left the Prime Minister's residence, and drove away.

Mr. de Valera seemed surprised when told that Sir James Craig and the members of the Northern Cabinet were at number 10. "That's very interesting," he said, with a smile.

In answer to further questions he said that it was not his intention to return to Ireland to-morrow, as had been hinted in some quarters.

His manner, on the whole, was very cheerful, and he was disposed to talk of the remarkable weather, rather than to discuss the result of the afternoon's conversation.

Half an hour later Mr. O'Brien and Mr. Childers returned to 10 Downing street for the purpose of agreeing upon the statement issued to the Press, which appears above.

NORTHERN DELEGATES RETURN TO BELFAST.

Sir James Craig left the Prime Minister's residence at 7 o'clock with Mr. Archdale and other members of his Cabinet. One of them told a Press representative that they were returning to Belfast this evening in accordance with their previous arrangement.

THE TRUCE.

FAIRS TO BE HELD IN MARTIAL LAW AREA.

Dublin Castle had no reports to issue yesterday morning with reference to the state of the country. The absence of such reports from district officials is interpreted as signifying that the country is quiet, and that the truce is being generally observed.

Belfast is the only district in which a feeling of uncertainty prevails, owing to the recent sporadic outbreaks there.

THE RESTRICTIONS ON MOTOR CARS.

Some doubt seems to exist in the minds of motorists, especially in country centres, regarding the removal of the restrictions in the use of motor cars, and this uncertainty obviously is due to the retention in certain instances of vital parts which had been removed by the authorities during the enforcement of the restrictions. It was explained yesterday to a representative of the Irish Times, who made inquiries in official quarters, that anyone whose permit had not been cancelled, and who is actually in possession of a valid permit, may use his motor car without any restrictions. There does not appear to be any owner in Dublin City with a permit who is unable to use his car owing to the lack of an essential part, and a dismantled car in the country probably means that the owner had been prohibited from using it.

It is true that in some country places working parts were removed from the cars of owners whose permits had not been cancelled, but the dismantling was a precaution against the removal of the cars by unauthorised persons for illegal purposes. No doubt, in these instances there will be a delay in returning the parts, for obvious reasons. No general order has been issued, so far as can be learned, affecting these cases; but an owner who, by the virtue of his permit, is entitled to use his car without restrictions ought naturally to apply for his parts to the authority that removed them.

It is understood that efforts are being made to secure normal motoring throughout Ireland. Restrictions of hours and distances having been removed, the only question now is that of the limitation of permits.

CONFERENCE WITH GENERAL MACREADY.

Inquiries at the office of Mr. E. J. Duggan, chief liaison officer for Dail Eireann, yesterday elicited the information that at the Royal Barracks, Dublin, on Sunday, Mr. Duggan and Mr. Thomas D. Barry, Cork, liaison officer for the martial law area, were in conference with General Macready, General Officer Commanding the Forces in Ireland, on the question of truce in Munster and the adjoining Counties of Wexford and Kilkenny.

Complaints had been made, it was stated, that patrols still carried arms in the South, and that the restrictions on fairs and markets had not been removed; further, that in the area under General Strickland's command the observance of truce had gone no further than the cessation of raids and arrests. The General, it was alleged, refused to accede to the requests of the several local liaison officers in the absence of a chief officer for the martial law area. To that post Mr. Barry has been appointed, his place as liaison officer for Cork City and County being taken by Mr. O'Connor (commandant).

The whole position in the martial law area was fully discussed at Sunday's conference, and Mr. Duggan said that General Macready gave satisfactory assurances on the matter.

BAN ON FAIRS REMOVED.

Mr. Duggan announced last night that, in consultation with General Macready, it had been agreed that all restrictions on fairs and markets in the martial law area should be removed.

THE REPAIR OF ROADS AND BRIDGES.

Mr. Thomas Barry stated last evening that, in view of the raising of the ban on fairs and markets, the removal of road obstructions, the filling in of trenches, and the repair of bridges was to be facilitated, and that all citizens should help.

SEABORNE TRAFFIC RESUMED.

Our Bantry Correspondent, in a telegram yesterday, says:—To-day, after a suspension of some months' duration owing to the destruction of roads and bridges in the neighbourhood, seaborne traffic was allowed between Bantry and Castletownbere and Glengarriff. The Bantry Bay Steamship Company's boats are again plying between these towns.

TEMPERANCE HALL BURNED.

Our Belturbet Correspondent states that the Miltown (Belturbet) Temperance Hall was maliciously burned to the ground on Saturday night, or early on Sunday morning. It is believed that the outrage has nothing to do with political feeling in the district. The Belturbet police are investigating the affair.

GENERAL TUDOR IN ATHLONE.

General Tudor, Inspector-General, R.I.C., arrived here this evening by aeroplane (says our Athlone Correspondent in a telegram yesterday), and held a two-hours' consultation with Divisional Commissioner Wilbond at the police headquarters. The aeroplane in which he travelled alighted at Fardrum, three miles from Athlone, where he was met by District-Inspector Brady and other police officials, with whom he drove to headquarters. A number of unarmed police kept guard over the aeroplane until the General returned two hours later and left for Galway in continuation of his tour.

BELFAST AGAIN QUIET.

There has been no renewal of rioting in Belfast. The police reported yesterday that all was quiet. There were no further admissions to the hospitals, and for the first time since August last there were no arrests for breaches of the Curfew regulations. Those who are in hospital suffering from wounds are making satisfactory progress, and no further deaths are reported.

The police reports at yesterday's conference in the City Hall were so satisfactory that it was decided to have no further meetings. Satisfaction was expressed that order had been restored in the city. The conference was attended by representatives of the Constabulary and leading citizens, with the Right Hon. Sir James Johnston in the chair.

MAGISTRATE SHOT.

A sensational shooting affair took place at Ballycastle, North Antrim, as the result of which a local magistrate, Mr. Patrick McCarry, J.P., has died from wounds. In connection with the shooting a police constable, who is said to belong to the Special Police, has been placed in detention.

Accompanied by Constable William Barry of the R.I.C., who was formerly stationed at Ballycastle, and is now serving in the town of Antrim, Mr. McCarry called at the police barracks at about one o'clock on Sunday morning. In accordance with the usual custom the door was locked, and Constable Barry tapped at the window in order to attract the attention of the guard on duty. The door was opened, and Special Constable Steels observed two men, both of whom were attired in civilian clothes. He had joined the station only two or three days previously. He fired, and Mr. McCarry received a bullet wound in the right shoulder, and died yesterday morning without regaining consciousness. Mr. McCarry, who was well known in the district, was the Sinn Fein candidate for North Antrim at the General Election in 1918. He contested the division against Major P. Kerr-Smiley, who was returned by a majority of 6,948, the figures being—Kerr-Smiley 9,621, McCarry 2,673.

SINN FEIN PRISONERS AT PRINCETOWN.

Sinn Fein prisoners, numbering between eighty and ninety, at Princetown, when paraded on Saturday morning, declined to proceed to their respective tasks, took off their caps and tunics, and commenced singing, dancing, and shouting. The governor and deputy governor appealed to them to obey instructions, but, as they continued their antics, they were threatened with forcible treatment. The disturbance was quickly quelled. Other warders were summoned, and the prisoners were removed to the cells after some sharp struggles had taken place. The prisoners' ages range from twenty to thirty-five years.

MR. JUSTICE DODD'S ADVICE.

The Commission of Assise for the County of Londonderry was opened yesterday by Mr. Justice Dodd. Addressing the Grand Jury, his lordship said that it was easy for a judge to say a word too much or a word too little. He should not like to say anything that would hinder the chance of peace being established on good terms. When he sat in Derry shortly after the war he was beset by a contest that was going on as to which section of the community was sending more sons to the front, and he then took the liberty of reminding the Grand Jury of the city of the words of Lord Carlisle that had remained in his mind for more than half a century, when opening the bridge across the Foyle. Lord Carlisle referred to the delicate artistic structure—delicate, but sufficiently strong to bind together the opposite shores of the river; and he expressed the hope that the tender cords of peace and good-will might bind together the opposing sections of the community. The outlook was not very bright, and the hope was not very great, but anything that would bring about that great consummation and bring Derry back to that condition of things was worth hoping for and worth struggling for. It was a case for searching their own hearts, and seeing if they could not do anything more than they had done to suppress any bitterness, and to cultivate a wise forgetfulness, and look about for reasons and excuses, and apply a little common-sense and give-and-take. If a happy result was not accomplished, they could be satisfied that they were doing their best to bring on the hope of a happy and peaceful time.

GRAND JURY AND THE PEACE EFFORTS.

Lieut.-Colonel J. Jackson Clarke, H.M.L. (the foreman) informed Mr. Justice Dodd that, on the motion of Mr. James E. O'Neill, J.P., seconded by Dr. H. S. Morrison, M.P., D.L., the following resolution was unanimously adopted:—"That we, the Grand Jury of the County Londonderry, assembled at the Summer Assizes, beg to express our gratification at the efforts at present being made to secure peace in Ireland, in accordance with the wishes expressed in His Majesty's gracious speech at the recent opening of the Northern Parliament."

His Lordship said that he would have the resolution sent on to His Majesty.

A CLERGYMAN FLOGGED.

BRUTAL OUTRAGE IN FLORIDA.

A Reuter telegram, dated Miami (Florida), Monday, says:—An extraordinary outrage was perpetrated last night on the person of Rev. Philip Irwin, described as a British subject and an archdeacon of the English Episcopal Church, who is a leading figure in religious work among the Southern negroes here. When he was returning home in a motor car after evening Service two other cars drove up, and he was asked for the loan of a spanner. As he was about to get this out of the tool box four masked men stepped out of each of the other cars, seized him, clapped handcuffs on his wrists, and took him to some adjacent woods, where, after being stripped, he was flogged, forty lashes being administered with a leather strap. His captors next applied a coat of tar and feathers, after which he was put into a sack, taken in a motor car to the business section of the city, and then dropped out into the street.

Subsequently describing his experiences, the Archdeacon told the police that his captors accused him of having preached social equality to the negroes and of having advocated intermarriage between the white and black races. They declared that such a doctrine could not be tolerated in the South, and threatened that they would lynch him unless he left Miami within forty-eight hours. Mr. Irwin said to-day that, while he was a British subject, he would not insult the American flag by applying to the British authorities for protection.

Four other cases of tarring and feathering have been reported from various parts of the South during the week-end, and the methods adopted in all these cases are so similar as to suggest the existence of a secret society for the purpose of administering swift community justice, and similar in its operations to the old Ku Klux Klan.

UNITED STATES NAVY AND THE WAR.

CHARGES AND DENIALS.

ADMIRAL SIMS VINDICATED.

A Washington telegram, dated Monday, states:—The Senate Naval Committee's report, concerning the controversies in May, 1920, between Admiral Sims and Mr. Daniels, then Secretary of the Navy, shows that widely conflicting views were held regarding the direction of the American Navy during the early months of the war. The majority report, representing the views of the Republican members of the Committee, severely censures Mr. Daniels, ex-President Wilson, and Admiral Benson, former Chairman of the Shipping Board, for many alleged sins of omission and commission; while the minority report, representing the views of the Democratic members of the Committee, as stoutly defends them. Admiral Sims's principal charge, that the administrative delays cost half a million lives and fifteen million dollars, is discussed, and the majority report says that, if the delays in the naval operations had not occurred, the American Expeditionary Forces might have brought about the Allied victory earlier than they actually did; but the extent to which these delays failed to shorten the war is altogether conjectural. The minority report describes the charge as monstrous and without foundation, and declares that Admiral Sims has failed to produce evidence in support of it.

The report adds that the American Army was transported as fast as it was ready, and supplies crossed to Europe in ample volume at all times. The majority report says that for many months after America had entered the war the predominant purpose of the Administration seemed to have been to look to the future of America apart from the Allies, in case the latter might be defeated, or in case peace without victory might be made. The principal reason for the delayed American naval action was the non-aggressive policy imposed on the navy by the administration. The majority report gives Admiral Sims a large degree of credit for the convoy system, and finds that substantially all his recommendations in the first months of the war were later adopted. The minority report declares that the few charges which appear justified are so trivial as hardly to deserve serious consideration, and adds that the uniform success of the American operations demonstrate the wisdom of the policies adopted.

A further telegram states:—The Senatorial Sub-Committee on Naval Affairs has published a majority report declaring that the navy was unprepared for war at the beginning of hostilities with Germany, and that its organisation now is not what it should be.

ROBBERS BUSY IN DUBLIN.

ARMED THIEVES SURPRISED.

Armed robbers in Dublin yesterday received a most discouraging reception in two places of business which they visited.

At 6 p.m. the call office of the Harold's Cross Laundry, 50 Capel street, was entered by two men, who "held up" a girl assistant at the revolver point. They decamped within a few minutes with £15. The moment that they left the shop the girl raised the alarm. A group of young men attracted by her cries pursued the running robbers, and, when near Jervis street Hospital, captured a certain man, who, it is alleged, was seen to drop an unloaded revolver. The stolen money was not recovered. The individual taken by the crowd was formally arrested by the police, and taken to Store street station.

Earlier in the evening an unsuccessful raid was made by two men on the confectionery shop of Mr. Thomas Gogan, Marlborough street. One of the men presented a revolver at the assistant, and told her not to budge. She immediately screamed, and called for help. At this the raiders decamped. Hearing the girl's screams, a number of young men in an upper room raced downstairs and set off in pursuit of the raiders. For some time the chase was maintained, but the would-be robbers eluded capture.

VISCOUNT BRYCE IN AMERICA.

Viscount and Viscountess Bryce arrived at New York yesterday. Viscount Bryce said that he had come chiefly to see old friends, and that his trip had nothing to do with diplomatic or official business.

MAJOR H. A. DENHAM'S DEATH.

At an inquest yesterday on Major Harold Arthur Denham, D.S.O., Headmaster of Folkestone Grammar School, who was found dead in a wood a few miles from Folkestone, with a bullet wound in his heart and a revolver by his side, a verdict of suicide whilst temporarily insane was returned.

Mrs. Denham stated that last Tuesday he complained greatly of the heat, and had no lunch. He did not return home after the afternoon school. She knew no reason why he should commit self-destruction.

INTERNATIONAL CHILD WELFARE CONFERENCE.

The second International Congress for Infant Welfare opened at Brussels yesterday under the presidency of M. Carton de Wiart, the Belgian Prime Minister. King Albert was present.

M. Carton de Wiart, in the opening speech, explained the scope of the Congress. He recalled the work done since the first Congress in 1913 in the domain of education, hygiene, infantile disease, and the upbringing of children, and expressed the hope that the present Congress would bear fruitful results.

Speeches were also made by the representatives of France, Serbia and Luxemburg, re-echoing the sentiments of the Prime Minister.

THE KING AND THE PACIFIC CONFERENCE.

In the House of Commons yesterday,

Mr. Clynes asked the Prime Minister whether there was any foundation for the statement in the newspapers that the King had intervened directly to straighten out the entanglements which had occurred in the negotiations with the Government of the United States in regard to the Pacific Conference.

Mr. Lloyd George—No, sir, there is no foundation whatever for the statement. It is a pure invention.

Mr. Hogg asked, as this pure invention involved His Majesty, what action the Prime Minister proposed to take.

The Speaker—I do not think that that arises here.

THAXTED AND ITS FLAGS.

THE UNION OF ENGLAND AND IRELAND.

In the course of a statement made on Sunday at Thaxted Church the vicar, the Rev. Conrad Noel, said:—We hope and pray that there may be a just and lasting settlement with Ireland as the result of the conference, and it may be that, if she assents to Dominion Home Rule, in addition to her own flag she may wish for the Union Jack as symbolising her voluntary union with England and the Colonies, freely united to us in a British Commonwealth. The thin red bars added in 1801 represented the compulsory conquest of Ireland, and therefore cannot be approved by Christian people; but should Ireland now accept them as a sign of their freely-chosen union with us, there would seem to be no reason why the Union Jack should not once again have an honoured place in Thaxted Church. Better still would be a flag of all peoples, voluntarily united to England, with the cross of Saint George as a basis, and the symbols of the various countries represented on it, something like the Stars and Stripes of the American Republic."

PARLIAMENT.

THE FINANCE BILL.

GOVERNMENT'S CONCESSIONS.

BRASS BANDS AT AGRICULTURAL SHOWS.

The Finance Bill, as amended in Committee, was considered on report in the House of Commons yesterday.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer moved a new clause exempting from entertainment duty exhibitions or entertainments by societies of an educative character promoted in the interest of agriculture, manufacture, or the public health, and not conducted for profit.

Replying to Mr. Holmes, the Chancellor said that he thought the concession would cost over £100,000.

Mr. Turton, having thanked the Chancellor for the clause, subsequently retracted with vehemence every word that he had used on the Chancellor, explaining that such a show would be liable to duty if a band were engaged to play.

Mr. William Thorne—Do not be in such a hurry again to thank the Government for nothing. (Opposition cheers.)

Sir S. Hoare said that all agricultural shows had a band, so that they would derive no benefit from the concession. The Chancellor, under the guise of making a concession, was really giving nothing at all.

Sir Robert Horne said that they must draw the line somewhere. If they exempted an exhibition with a band they would be asked to exempt an exhibition with a troupe of Pierrots as a side-show.

An amendment by Mr. A. Williams extending the concession to educative exhibitions which included a band or other side-shows was rejected by 228 to 68, and the clause was agreed to.

INDUSTRIAL SPIRITS.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer moved a new clause exempting from duty imported spirits produced in the Empire used for the purpose of making methylated spirits for generating power or for industrial purposes. It also, he said, increased the bounty to fivepence paid in the case of spirits produced in the United Kingdom. He thought that they ought to do their best to exempt from duty the means by which transport was carried on so that trade might be helped to revive.

Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy protested against any concession being made to owners of motors.

Mr. Jesson thanked the Chancellor for a concession which would help the million workers in the motor industry.

The Chancellor informed Mr. Holmes that the concession in the case of industrial spirits would cost about £40,000. He could not say what it would cost in the case of motive power.

Sir W. Joynson Hicks expressed his gratitude to the Chancellor for the clause, which would encourage the Colonies to produce motor spirit to compete with petrol.

The Chancellor added that spirit from foreign countries would come in at a greatly diminished duty.

An amendment by Captain W. Benn making the rate of duty the same in the case of all these spirits, whether foreign or Colonial, was negatived by 223 to 68.

The clause was added to the bill without a division.

Mr. H. Young moved a new clause, the object of which was to enable licences to be issued for motor cars and motor bicycles for less periods than a year.

The clause was agreed to.

Mr. H. Young moved a new clause, the object of which was to empower the Board of Trade to issue certificates exempting from Customs duty articles which contained spirits as a part of the ingredient thereof if their use was essential for carrying on some specified art or manufacture, and such exemption was desirable in the interests of trade. He said that the clause would serve a useful purpose in removing unnecessary hindrances to trade.

Sir F. Banbury objected to the Board of Trade being able to exercise a discrimination in favour of certain interests without reference to the House of Commons, the taxing authorities.

Mr. A. M. Samuels also criticised the clause.

Sir Robert Horne said that as objection was taken to the clause he would withdraw it.

The clause was withdrawn.

EXEMPTION FROM INCOME TAX.

A new clause moved by Sir Robert Horne was agreed to granting exemption from income tax in respect of lands owned and occupied by charities, and of profits of trades carried on by beneficiaries of charities.

A further clause moved by the Chancellor was agreed to exempting contributions and investments in respect of superannuation funds from income tax. He said that it had been the custom in the past to make the exemption, but the concession was now being put in the form of a legal enactment.

Mr. Rawlinson moved a clause providing that no Corporation Profits Tax should be charged in the case of associations formed not for profit, but for promoting commerce, art, science, charity, or other useful object.

The clause was resisted by the Government, and was rejected by 197 to 105.

THE CORPORATION TAX.

Sir A. Fell proposed a new clause repealing the Corporation Profits Tax as from December 31st next, remarking that the tax was equivalent to another 6d. in the £ income tax, and operated unequally.

Sir W. Rutherford seconded.

Sir Robert Horne said that it was impossible for him to make any concession this year. He had to find the revenue to meet the expenditure, and if he did away with the tax this year he would be surrendering thirty million pounds. That was a sum that he could not afford to lose in present circumstances.

Mr. McCallum Scott said that the tax was objectionable and inequitable.

On a division the clause was rejected by 156 to 92.

Mr. T. Griffiths moved a clause providing that the entertainments duty should not be charged for admission to any entertainment where the whole of the profits were devoted to philanthropic or charitable purposes.

Mr. H. Young pointed out that the duty was not charged where the whole of the takings were devoted to charitable purposes, and there was a recovery of the duty where the expenses of the entertainment did not exceed 20 per cent. of the receipts. To substitute profits for receipts as the basis of the duty would be to make a breach in the tax that would carry away practically the whole of the revenue. He could not accept the proposal.

Mr. Newbould said that he thought 30 per cent. should be allowed for expenses.

The clause was rejected.

CLUB DUTIES.

Mr. Robert Richardson moved a new clause reducing the duty on purchases of intoxicating liquor supplied to a club from 6d. to 3d. in the £. In 1914 the sum demanded of clubs in respect of this duty was only £63,000, but in 1920 it had risen to £380,000, though the sale of intoxicants in this period had gone down rather than up. The tax operated harshly in respect of workingmen's clubs.

Colonel Gretton suggested that it would be wise of the Chancellor to make some concession to remove the grievance that existed.

Sir Robert Horne said that he thought that as there was likely to be new licensing legislation it would be wiser to postpone dealing with this matter.

Sir F. Young supported the amendment.

Mr. George Roberts warned members that there was a tendency to place clubs under the same legislation as licensed houses, and many of them must go under if some relief was not afforded.

Captain Bowyer seconded.

Mr. Austin Hopkinson said that this was an attempt by the Labour Party to get in with the brewers. Let them clear their minds of cant and hypocrisy. Many of these clubs were run in the interest of brewers. It was perfectly useless for the mover of the amendment to come there appealing to the House in a voice trembling with emotion at the supposed hardships on working men.

Sir Robert Horne said that he declined to join in any general condemnation of workingmen's clubs. (Hear, hear.) He recognised the value of them, and he recognised the anomalous effect of the tax. But he had refused to reduce the duties on tea and sugar, and, therefore, he was not able to reduce this tax on liquor supplied to clubs. Members of clubs were patriotic citizens, and when they realised the situation they would not object to bear the burden. In the meantime, he would try and find some other method of managing this taxation, so as to get rid of the anomalies.

The clause was rejected by 156 to 113.

Several new clauses were moved and resisted by the Government, and rejected.

REPLACING LOST DOCUMENTS.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer moved a section providing that the Commissioners should have the power to enforce the delivery of documents to replace those destroyed. The documents must contain all information for replacing the lost documents. The Chancellor mentioned, as an instance, the fire at the Dublin Custom House, when all documents were destroyed.

Sir John Butcher asked whether there were any means of placing upon responsible parties the cost that might be involved in replacing documents lost by the deplorable burning of the Dublin Custom House. As the case stood, the British taxpayer would have to pay any increased cost resulting from the necessity of having these documents signed or made over again.

Sir Robert Horne replied that it was a difficult question to answer; but, certainly, there was no way of meeting the difficulty except under the Home Rule Act.

The clause was agreed to.

(Left Sitting.)

Three miners were killed and three injured through an explosion at Blantyre Ferme Colliery, Uddingston, yesterday, owing to gas accumulation.

HOSPITAL UPKEEP.

THE VOLUNTARY SYSTEM.

VIEWS OF THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

The representative meeting of the British Medical Association sat again at Newcastle-on-Tyne yesterday, under the Presidency of Dr. Garstan, of Altrincham.

A series of resolutions were discussed at length relative to the methods which should be adopted in the conduct of hospitals in the future. These were moved by Mr. Bishop Harman (Marylebone) on behalf of the Council. The first declared the belief that the voluntary method of administration of the voluntary hospitals is to the advantage of the public, of medical science, and of the medical profession, and that it should be maintained. Mr. Harman said that the essence of the voluntary system was the independence of administration.

Dr. E. Rees (West Cornwall) sad that the Council were asking them to pass a resolution which was not expressing the exact truth. The voluntary system could no longer preserve the hospitals in the necessary state of efficiency. He did not see why they should be called upon to take up this attitude. He thought that this was a great bogey that had been brought before the medical practitioners. He knew that it was very popular with those who objected to people who endeavoured to put things on a communal basis, because it condemned anything in the nature of what was called Socialism. He thought that they, as an educated body, ought to be above that sort of thing.

Dr. Lyndon (Guildford) said that they were asked to record their belief that the voluntary system was an advantage to the public. They had nothing to do with a suggestion made by Dr. Rees during his speech about trades unions controlling hospitals.

Dr. Fleming (Stratford-on-Avon) said that his esperience of public authorities was that they had not got the hospital spirit and the desirable appreciation of scientific work and research.

Dr. Haslip, the Treasurer (London)—What do you mean by voluntary administration? In large hospitals, such as those in London, the staffs are paid.

Dr. Harman—Is the British Medical Association less a voluntary association because it pays its officials?

Dr. Haslip—That is not voluntary administration.

Dr. Harman—I say that the governing body is the essence of the voluntary administration.

The motion was carried.

The subject of the free treatment of poor patients was debated, and it was resolved that inability to pay for adequate treatment should be the consideration for the admission of all patients for hospital treatment.

Dr. Rees said that all people who were admitted to hospitals free should be admitted as citizens. The old idea that they were to be regarded as paupers was horrible. Every citizen should have the right of admission into a national hospital for treatment. (Cries of "No.") The idea that they should be objects of charity was abominable.

SUPPORT FROM THE RATES

A motion was also carried stating that it was undesirable that the voluntary hospitals should be subsidised by the local rating authorities, except in so far as payment was made for the examination and the care of patients for whom those authorities were responsible.

A resolution was also brought forward advocating that the Government should subsidise the voluntary hospitals when they were in financial difficulties proportional to the income received by the hospital from voluntary and other contributions. This was referred back to the Council so that they might advise which was the best thing to do in this matter. It was further affirmed that greatly extended support for voluntary hospitals should be sought from employers and insurance companies, seeing that they benefited largely both directly and indirectly by the services of the voluntary hospitals.

Another resolution passed declared that every patient of a voluntary hospital who was able should make a contribution during treatment towards maintenance, unless the contributory method of subscription was adopted as essential in industrial areas, but that, in view of the increased cost of maintenance, the contributory rates paid by workmen should be materially increased.

A further motion adopted was that where voluntary hospitals provided accommodation for paying patients no fixed rate of payment for professional services rendered to such patients should be established, the fees so payable to remain as at present, a matter of arrangement between the patient, the family physician, and the consultant.

The Conference also resolved that, in the event of a decision being taken which would lead to paying patients in part or in whole, or with the addition of rate or State aid, a percentage of such funds should be passed into a fund allocated as the honorary medical staff might determine.

In addition to this, a resolution was assented to providing that when the board of management of a voluntary hospital entered into a financial arrangement with a public authority, employers of labour, approved society, or insurance company, an arrangement should be taken to cover the cost of maintenance and treatment, and a portion of such receipts should be passed into a fund which was at the disposal of the honorary medical staff of the hospital.

At the conclusion of the voluntary hospital discussions, the meeting, on the recommendation of the Council, adopted a resolution maintaining that the essence of the voluntary hospital system was the independent and voluntary management, and that this was in no way related to the conditions of service of the medical staff.

RIGHTS OF NON-MEMBERS.

The question of the composition of the different committees was debated. On the subject of the Parliamentary and Medical Political Committee being reached, the point was raised as to whether non-members of the Association should be permitted to take part in the discussion.

Dr. Martley (Kensington) believed that those gentlemen ought not to be allowed to take part.

A resolution was proposed that it be an instruction to the Council to provide that no member of the medical profession who is eligible for membership of the Association, but who was a non-member, shall take part in the sections of the annual meeting.

Dr. Bolam (Newcastle), Chairman of the Council, said that there were a number of medical men whom they would shut out if the resolution was passed, and whom it was not desirable should be prevented joining in the section discussions. There were, amongst others, civil servants, whose position rendered it inadvisable for them to be in the Association, but who ought not to be precluded from assisting in the scientific part. Of course, they should not have anything to do with the administrative side. That meeting should be careful before they passed this resolution.

Dr. Turner (Kensington) proposed as an amendment that a non-member should not be able to take part, except under circumstances considered by the Arrangements Committee as exceptional.

The resolution with the addition proposed was carried by a fairly large majority.

A motion from St. Helens urged that the British Medical Association should undertake the legal defence of its members on all professional matters, including individual medical defence. The Association solicitor pointed to the legal difficulties in the way, and the resolution was withdrawn.

A resolution was agreed to that the minimum commencing salary of the whole-time medically qualified laboratory or research worker should not be less than £500 a year.

A resolution was also carried asking the Government to provide an efficient reward for reseach work carried out in the interest of the State.

It was stated that an inaccuracy occurred in yesterday's newspaper reports concerning the proposed Central Committee to consult with the Minister of Health. The project was not adopted by the representative meeting, but remitted to the Council.

The meeting adjourned till to-day.

BEGGING GANG IN BELFAST.

CIVILIAN SENT TO PRISON.

In the Belfast Police Court yesterday, David Wales, Melbourne street, was charged with begging. Evidence was given that the accused entered a shop on the Antrim road, and demanded bread. In view of his threatening attitude the lady assistant had to give him a loaf of bread. He then went out laughing, and joined a crowd of other men.

The accused said that he was starving at the time.

The Resident Magistrate said that these begging gangs must be broken up. He sent the accused to jail for one month with hard labour.

THE HONOURABLE THE IRISH SOCIETY.

The deputation of the Honourable the Irish Society, at present on their annual visitation to Londonderry, yesterday lunched with the High Sheriff of Co. Londonderry (Sir Hiram Wilkinson) at the Courthouse. In the afternoon they visited the Ballongry schools, and later went to the Guildhall.

To-day they will receive several deputations, and in the afternoon will visit Culmore Schools, going by river. Subsequently they will inspect the City and County Infirmary.

THE RAILWAYS BILL.

Standing Committee B of the House of Commons continued the discussion yesterday on the schedules of the Railways Bill.

A number of amendment were down with reference to the number of directors required for the Amalgamated Company under the amalgamation scheme.

Mr. Murrough Wilson, moving the elimination of the words which provided that the directors in the first year should not exceed twenty-one, said that no hard and fast line could be laid down in this matter, and the companies ought to be allowed to go into the matter, and submit a scheme to the Amalgamation Tribunal.

Mr. Neal, Parliamentary Secretary, said that there was a great objection to large boards of directors, not merely on grounds of economy, but because their meetings would tend to become of the nature of public meetings rather than business discussions. He suggested that the figures twenty-one remain, but that the words be added: "11 or such larger numbers as should be approved by the Amalgamation Tribunal."

In the course of further discussion it was urged that it was desirable definitely to fix the number of directors, and Mr. Neal then suggested, and it was agreed to, that not exceeding 28 directors be allowed for the two large Northern groups, 25 for the Western group, and 21 for the Southern.

Mr. Josiah Wedgwood (Labour) said that he regretted that the Parliamentary Secretary had thought fit to make this concession to the railway directors.

Lieutenant-Commander Kenworthy moved an amendment providing for two-thirds of the directors to be elected by shareholders, and one-third by and from railway workers. He said that he regretted that the railwaymen's unions had given up a principle which would be useful to other industries.

Sir Eric Geddes, replying to the discussion and to the remark of the Labour representative that the railwaymen had given up no right in this matter, said that the railwaymen had deliberately chosen not to be represented on the board of directors, and he did not believe that they would accept such directorates now, even if the Committee passed the amendment. There was no misunderstanding about this matter by the men, for they had chosen something else in place of representation on the board of directors, and it was too late now to reverse the bargain.

The amendment was lost.

Schedule 2 was passed, and the Committee adjourned until to-day.

SECOND PORTION OF THE BILL.

Standing Committee A, under the chairmanship of Sir Holford Mackinder, continued yesterday afternoon the further consideration of the second portion of the Railways Bill, which has been allotted to that Committee for consideration.

An amendment to Clause 31 was moved by Sir Eric Geddes to the effect that where it was proved to the satisfaction of the Rates Tribunal that any rate in operation at the passing of the Act, and fixed under any agreement or special statutory provision, was so fixed for a valuable consideration, the Rates Tribunal should by order continue the rate, subject to such modification as to the tribunal might appear fair and equitable, and should provide, as far as practicable, that the position of persons entitled to the rate should not, relatively to other persons, be prejudiced. He said that the words "valuable consideration" might mean consideration in money or money's worth.

Several minor amendments were moved to the clause, and Mr. Munro said that it had been considered again and again during the week-end, and the Government had given more time to it than to any other amendment on the paper. The amendment was widely framed, so that information might reach the tribunal from every quarter. The tribunal might safely be left to deal with it.

The amendment was agreed to, and Clause 31 was passed.

Clause 32, which deals with subsequent modifications of the standard charges, was carried without a division.

Sir Eric Geddes brought forward Clauses 33, 34, and 35, which had been re-drafted as the result of the meeting of railway representatives and of the trading interests. The clauses dealt with exceptional rates, and the valuation of same. An agreement on the main principles had been arrived at on the part of those concerned, and he asked that they should be passed as re-drafted. Clause 33 provided that on the appointed day all such exceptional rates in operation before that day should cease to operate, with the exception of such exceptional rates as were not less than five per cent. below the stannard rate, which would otherwise become chargeable, and had been continued by agreement in writing between the company and the trader concerned. Failing agreement, the matter should be referred to the Rates Tribunal for determination. Clause 34 dealt with exceptional rates in respect of the carriage of merchandise, but exceptional rates must n t, without the consent of the tribunal, be less than five per cent., or more than forty per cent., below the standard rate chargeable. Clause 35 provided that a company to which a schedule of standard charges had been applied should not be entitled to increase or cancel any exceptional rate which had been fixed by a later tribunal, without first obtaining the sanction of that tribunal. The company might reduce the exceptional rate, but not without consent reduce it so as to be more than forty per cent. below the standard rate which would be chargeable; and, if no exception was raised by any trader interested, might forthwith bring the increased rate into force, provided it was not less than five per cent. below the standard rate chargeable.

All three clauses were passed without alteration, as was also Clause 36.

The Committee then adjourned until to-day.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

ST. STEPHEN'S GREEN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I was interested to read your correspondent "C. H. B." on St. Stephen's Green Park in your issue of the 15th inst. Having had occasion to go through the Green after visiting the Horticultural Society's Show the other day, I could not but be struck with the condition of the beds and borders, not only in consideration of the long drought, but also by reason of the great improvements which appear to have been effected since my last visit in 1920. I never saw the Park looking so well. The raising of the long, curved border running from the centre of the Park towards the south-west is a considerable advance, showing off the nicely planned, waving "river" of Maggie Mott violas splendidly. One hears many doubts expressed regarding the difficulty of growing roses in town. In my experience this can be almost entirely overcome if due preparation of the beds is made. It is yet somewhat early to adjudicate regarding the new bed of dwarf Polyantha roses near the pond in the Green; but the first year's results promise well, as this bed is already a prominent feature of the Park.

I agree with "C. H. B.'s" gentle criticism of the gravel walks, but not with his suggested improvement. Gravel of any kind is most uncomfortable and dusty in dry weather, and the condition of the paths is the one blot on the Green at present. There is some chemical—I forget its name—used in municipal parks in England, which lays the dust and is, I believe, not very expensive and far superior to tarring, which is not desirable in parks, as it makes the roads of too street-like appearance.—Yours, etc.,

"J. M. W."

THE HARVEST MITE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—May I ask through your columns for some more information on the subject of that now prevalent summer tormentor, the harvest mite—known to many as "orange-tawny"—than is provided by a somewhat out-of-date encyclopædia? Many people still attribute the irritation of those minute "flesh-burrowers" to what they call "hives" from the heat of the blood or summer fruit-eating, etc.; whereas they are of external rather than internal onslaughts, and quite visible to anyone who, with eyesight good enough to allow of securing one on the point of a needle, then transfers it to a white surface and applies an ordinary microscope to it.

Perhaps, since their very minuteness and the discomfort they are capable of causing attaches interest to what zoologists call their life-history, some one scientifically enlightened on the subject will kindly explain:—(a) Whether they are the larvæ of that tiny and very active red spider, of which a few can generally be discovered scampering about in any freshly-gathered bowl of fruit at this time of year, or of quite different origin; (b) do they emerge after each flesh-burrowing operation to carry on the same irritating campaign in a succession of pores, or is each so-called "hive" produced by a separate orange-garbed mite of harvest time?; and (c) are they equally prevalent in fruit, vegetable, and flower gardens and the open field and country-side, so that town-dwellers remain immune from their unwelcome attack?—Yours, etc.,

"AN INTERESTED VICTIM."

SALMON IN THE LIFFEY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I wish to draw attention to the condition of the salmon in the Liffey. On the boat club level the fish are dying in dozens. Yesterday no less than seven could be seen dead, and I do not know how many had been taken out by the boys who were playing and bathing along the banks. If those fish are taken home and used as human food, you will understand the serious risks to public health.

The salmon fishery is a national asset, and ought to be looked after more carefully in the Liffey. Owing to the want of a good flush of water the fish get sick, and, to add to that, they find their attempts to get to the sea frustrated owing to the iron gratings on the sluices and insufficient water to carry them over the weir. Thus they must remain in this level to die and decompose.

Some time ago I drew the attention of the Secretary of Fisheries to the practice of raising the sluice gates and preventing the free flow of water through the salmon pass (for the benefit, I presume, of the netting below the weir). The practice of reducing the boat club level has been carried on nightly, as the water is known to fall some feet every night. Netting at the foot of this weir is a veritable death trap for salmon. The interests of the ratepayers would not suffer if the obstructions were removed and the nets lifted from the river altogether.—Yours, etc.,

IRISH MASTER PRINTERS' ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING IN DUBLIN.

Mr. T. J. W. Kenny, Galway, the outgoing President, occupied the chair at the annual meeting of the Irish Master Printers' Association, held at the Gresham Hotel, Dublin, yesterday, and about twenty-five provinciad master printers and newspaper owners were present.

Reports and instructions from various provincial groups were received, and after discussion a resolution was passed unanimously refusing to recognise or consider any changes in working conditions which would entail either increased cost, restriction of privileges at present existing, or demands for increase of wages. It was further resolved that the time had come to press the memorial for a reduction of 15 per cent. on the present wages.

The report of the General Secretary (Mr. V. D. Hughes) showed that the organisation had increased in membership during the year. Reports, however, as to the condition of trade throughout the provinces were less satisfactory. It was felt that the cost of printing could not be further increased. The finances of the Association were in a strong position.

Mr. T. J. W. Kenny was re-elected President, Mr. H. L. Glasgow Vice-President, Mr. J. J. O'Leary, Dublin, Hon. Treasurer, and Mr. T. F. McGahan Hon. Secretary. The following were elected on the Executive Committee:—Ulster—W. Weir, Ballymena; J. F. O'Hanlon, Cavan; M. Lynch, Omagh; R. D. Montgomery, Bangor; D. S. Irvine, Londonderry. Munster—G. F. Croker, Waterford; N. Harvey, do.; E. Long, Thurles; W. McGrath, Cork; A. J. Eakins, Limerick. Leinster—J. English, Wexford; E. T. Keane, Kilkenny; J. J. Reddy, Carlow; P. F. Corcoran, Drogheda; J. J. O'Leary, Dublin. Connaught—Philip O'Gorman, Galway; A. MacHugh, Sligo; Miss Gilmore, do.; J. Farnan, Castlebar; A. G. Scott, Galway.

SUMMER ASSIZES.

COUNTY ANTRIM'S RECORD.

MR. JUSTICE SAMUELS AND THE NEW REGIME.

Mr. Justice Samuels opened the Summer Assizes for the County Antrim at Belfast yesterday. Addressing the Grand Jury, His Lordship said that bills would be sent before them in five cases. The cases were of an inferior character. For the first time in his experience as Judge of Assize, the number of bills that had been sent up, and the character of the cases, was a reasonable index, comparatively speaking, of the condition of their county. He had the honour of being Judge of Assize in other portions of Ireland—large territories and places of great importance, with populations as large as theirs in County Antrim—and he could say that theirs was the most crimeless community in which it had been his privilege to address a Grand Jury. The return for the county showed nominally 88 specially reported cases, as against 46 for the corresponding part of last year. The largest number of the increased cases was confined to two areas. Most of the offences were connected with the cutting of telegraph wires and injury to the postal apparatus, and there had been a certain number of cases returned of incendiary fires. That was the first county in which he had the honour of addressing the Grand Jury in which he had not a return of a single murder. He was assured by their Sub-Sheriff that for the 18 years in which he had discharged his duty in their county, there was but one case of murder tried in County Antrim, and that was a case in which the delinquent was a person who was not in his senses. Happy Antrim! Happy Antrim, that in the midst of the terrible scenes and the terrible surroundings that prevailed in the rest of their country, there was such a crimeless record as he had now before him.

LAST OF THE OLD ORDER OF CIRCUITS.

That might be—it probably was—the last Assizes of a very ancient régime. The old order of Circuits changed, and gave place to the new. It was a very great privilege, and a great satisfaction to him coming there for the first time to their great county as Judge of Assize, to close possibly the long record of some centuries, of the present arrangement of their Circuits—to close the period with what he might say was very little more than a stainless record.

COUNTY ROSCOMMON.

ACQUITTALS IN MANSLAUGHTER CHARGES.

At Roscommon Assizes on Saturday, before Mr. Justice Wylie, Patrick Dockery, of Oran, was indicted for the manslaughter of Thomas Ryan, a herd, on 9th April last.

The jury acquitted the prisoner.

James Dolan was charged with the manslaughter of James Donnellan on 10th May.

His Lordship stopped the case. He expressed the opinion that the accused used no more force than was necessary to put out of his house a man who had assaulted him three times. His lordship directed the jury to acquit the prisoner.

"ROSCOMMON HERALD" TO BE REPUBLISHED.

The Roscommon Herald and its allied paper, the Midland Reporter (Mullingar), will be republished this week. Their publication was suspended owing to the death in tragic circumstances, before the truce, of one of the proprietors—Mr. G. W. Tully.

AN ATTRACTIVE WORLD TOUR.

It is announced that Mr. Edward Gray, F.R.G.S., who conducted a party through Australia and New Zealand last winter, is now organising a second world social tour, lasting six months. The party will leave the British Isles on 28th October. In addition to visiting parts of Australia and New Zealand, the party will travel by motor cars through Tasmania, and spend about a month in visiting the beautiful South Sea islands of Fiji, Tonga, and Samoa. Honolulu and California will also be visited, and the party will return through the Southern States of America to visit the Grand Canyon, some of the chief cities, and Niagara Falls, and sail from New York about the beginning of May, 1922. Those desirous of taking part in the tour should write to Mr. Gray, c/o New Zealand Government Offices, 415 Strand, W.C.2, for a copy of the descriptive itinerary. The cost of the tour is £888.

A third consignment of gold has arrived at Havre, amounting to 985,000,000 francs. It was brought from Stockholm on board the steamship Marta for the account of the Swedish Company.

STOCKS CLOSED HEAVY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, MONDAY.

Stocks opened heavy, and declined on selling of Atlantic Gulf Lines, Steels, and Equipments, due to the weakness of exchange, as the sterling rate today touched the year's lowest point; then the market rallied partially under buying of Mexican Petroleum, General Electric, and Sugars, the latter being due to prospects of financial assistance being given to Cuban Sugar interests. There was renewed selling, however, later, and Mexican Petroleum and other Oils eased. Railroads were quiet, and the market closed heavy.

CHICAGO, MONDAY.

WHEAT opened irregular, 1½c. down to unchanged, and went lower on better crop reports from the Canadian North-West, more favourable weather in the North-West, lower cash and outside markets, larger interior receipts, a disappointing export and outside demand, and the bearish visible supply figures, which hastened selling by commission houses and elevator interests. The market closed easy, 3½c. to 3¾c. down. Spot easy. No. 2 hard winter, spot, 129½; No. 3 hard winter, spot, 126½. July, 126½; September, 127; December, 131½.

CORN opened irregular, ⅛c. down to ⅛c. up, the decline being due to more favourable crop and weather reports, predictions of a continued improvement in the weather, the weaker cash and wheat position, and commission houses and cash interests selling. The decline was further assisted by liquidation, and the market closed easy, 1⅛c. to 2½c. lower. No. 2 mixed, spot, 63½. July, 63½; September, 61⅞; December, 60½.

OATS easy at 1c. to 1⅛c. loss. July, 39½; September, 41½; December, 44.

PROVISIONS opened irregular, and rose early on higher hogs, foreign buying, shorts covering, and professional support; then eased owing to the break in grain, packers selling, liquidation, and stop-loss selling; but again advanced partially on covering and buying for a reaction. NEW ISSUE.

THE PULLMAN CAR COMPANY, LTD.

Barclays Bank and branches and Messrs. Erlanger, 8 Crosby square, London, E.C. 4 (who have purchased the debentures from the company), now offer for sale on behalf of the Pullman Car Company £500,000 8 per cent. 1st Mortgage Equipment Debentures at 98½ per cent. The debentures are secured as a specific first charge on the rolling stock, cars, and other assets of the company, subject only to the existing £118,500 outstanding 6 per cent. debentures, the holders of which are being offered very favourable terms of exchange into the new 8 per cents., or redemption out of the proceeds of the present issue. The new debentures are redeemable at 102½ per cent. by 25 equal annual drawings, commencing on 1st July, 1923. The total assets to be specifically mortgaged as security for the issue amount to £1,216,342. The net profits, as set forth in the prospectus, show continued expansion during the past four years, and the company has just declared a 5 per cent. dividend on the Ord. shares. The chairman is confident that the future profits will be more than twice the amount necessary to cover the interest and sinking fund of the debentures. The debentures have been issued with the object of furnishing funds for the completion of the payments to be made in connection with the construction contracts of new cars (making the number owned by the company 153), approximately £285,000, and, after redeeming the £118,500 6 per cent. First Mortgage Debentures now outstanding, and taking into account instalments received on the issue of 250,000 new Ordinary Shares, there will be available for the general purposes of the company the sum of £88,819 19s. 5d. The debentures, which have been underwritten at 2½ per cent. and ½ per cent., are a good industrial investment, returning a high rate of interest. Our readers who wish to apply for debentures should use the form at the foot of the prospectus on Page 7, and the list of applications will close on or before Monday, July 25.

EXCESSIVE INCOME TAX IN IRELAND.

Asked by Lieutenant-Colonel W. Guinness, in the House of Commons yesterday, whether he was aware that, owing to the quadrupling of local rates in certain parts of Ireland since 1914, the net receipts from property, after payment of income tax, was often a minus quantity; and whether the Government proposed to take any steps in the matter,

Sir Hamar Greenwood said that he was not aware of the facts stated in the question. Perhaps, the hon. and gallant gentleman would supply him with any specific information in his possession.

LAWN TENNIS.

COUNTY DUBLIN CHAMPIONSHIPS.

The County Dublin Championships were favoured with splendid weather for the start yesterday at Carrickmines. The rain of last week had freshened everything, and the courts were in capital order. Over two hundred and fifty entries have been received for the nine events, including those of C. Campbell and Miss Ryan, so plenty of interesting play is promised for the week. Extensions, it might be mentioned, have been made to the club-house since last season, which add greatly to its value, and make it certainly one of the finest and best appointed clubhouses around Dublin. The play yesterday was mostly devoted to the handicaps in which, as will be seen from the appended details, there were a good many hard-fought matches. The Ladies' Championship Singles was also pushed usefully along. Most of the matches in it gave the winners very decided victories, Miss Crosbie, Miss H. Wallis, Miss Pallin, Mrs. Price showing up strongly; but Miss Lynch and Miss Chambers had a stiff encounter, Miss Chambers taking the first set at 5-7, but losing the next two to her opponent. Miss H. Wallis also showed fine form with Mrs. Tomlinson in the Ladies' Open Doubles, defeating Miss F. Hornidge and Miss J. Manley at the loss of one game only in each set. M. Sugden and M. THE DAVIS CUP.

INDIA'S REPRESENTATIVES IN PARIS.

A Reuter's Paris telegram, on Monday, says:—Play was continued to-day in the Davis Cup contest between France and India. Samazeuilh (France) was engaged in the third Singles match. The game had, however, only reached four love in the first set in Sleem's favour when heavy rain stopped play, which will be resumed to-morrow afternoon. After yesterday's victory for India in the Doubles, France has to win both of the last two Singles to avoid elimination. To-day's play, so far as it went, was lacking in any brilliance.

THEATRE ROYAL.

Each of the individual performances at the Theatre Royal last night had special merit, but the most popular was "The Fall of the Gladiator" by Nervo and Knox, who are inimitable as pantomimic entertainers. The child impersonations of Wilson Hallett, who gave a nursery sketch, were thoroughly enjoyed by old and young in the audience. Ernest Hastings's pleasant baritone voice and his piano accomplishments were humorously combined to the general delight. These, and the amazing acrobatics of a group of French tumblers, kept the audience almost oblivious of the heat of the evening.

GOLF.

SKERRIES CLUB.

NEW PAVILION OPENED.

In celebration of the opening of the handsome new clubhouse on Saturday, an excellent programme was arranged by the enterprising committee of the Skerries Golf Club. It proved a big success, and fully justified the decision to award substantial prizes for an open competition, the first being valued at £10, the second £7, and one for the best gross score at £5. Considering the bad turn of the weather, the number of competitors was remarkable. It reached the record total of 110, and included some well-known golfers like Messrs. Davies, Soulby, and Gerald Moore, while amongst other visitors were the Rev. J. L. Morrow, Hon. Secretary of the Irish Golfing Union, and Mr. George Price, Hon. Secretary Leinster Branch. Everyone was loud in praise of the course, which, despite the conflicting effects of the long drought and sudden thunderstorms, was in tip-top order, thanks to the zealous care bestowed on it by James O'Hare, and it was a delightful experience to find greens behaving in a rational way. Though some heavy showers fell during the day, they did not interfere with the progress of the competition. The best gross return was made by G. T. Hamlet, the well-known Rugby international, whose win with a highly creditable 73 was very popular. Another member of the local club, A. H. Ellis, won the open competition with a net score of 70. The prizes were presented by the club's popular captain, Mr. F. A. Moran, who, with Mr. Bailey, Hon. Sec., and the other members of the committee, deserve the highest credit for the excellence of the arrangements. Now that this delightful course is again equipped with a spacious and comfortable pavilion, it deserves to be ranked amongst the best nine-hole links in Ireland. It is certainly in splendid order just now. Result open competition:—1st prize, A. H. Ellis (Skerries)—87 (17) 70; 2nd prize, Rev. P. J. Dunlea (Hermitage)—81 (10) 71, and J. F. Owens (Skerries)—85 (14) 71, tie; D. Beatty (Foxrock)—82 (10) 72; G. T. Hamlet (Skerries)—78 (5) 73 (best gross); J. S. Griffin (Skerries)—80 (6) 74; T. A. Cosgrove (Skerries)—85 (10) 75; R. WESLEYAN METHODIST CONFERENCE.

The Wesleyan Methodist Conference at Middlesbrough yesterday decided on the reduction of the ministers' minimum stipend allowance by £20. In opposing the reduction, Mr. D. J. Vaughan said that ministers should have more, and some of them must give up their motor cars, and those who had no motor cars should sacrifice something in other directions, even if they had to pawn their shirts. In this way they could secure the money required to maintain the ministers' stipend at the present minimum.

The following letter has been received from the Chairman of the Company:—

Messrs. ERLANGERS, 8 CROSBY SQUARE, E.C. 12th July, 1921.

GENTLEMEN,—
In connection with the recent purchase by you of £500,000 of 8 % First Mortgage Equipment Debentures of this Company, I beg to confirm, in accordance with your request, the information already furnished to you regarding this Company.
The Pullman Car Company was formed in 1915 to take over the business of the Pullman Company, registered in 1882, to provide and operate Pullman Cars on various railways in Great Britain and elsewhere.
The Share Capital of the Company now stands at £500,000, in Ordinary Shares of £1 each, having been increased by the issue at par in 1920 of 250,000 Shares, solely for the purpose of providing funds for the construction of additional rolling stock.
The Revenue of the Company is derived from the supplements charged to Passengers, based on distances travelled, and from the receipts for meals and refreshments served in the Cars. The Company, while carrying the Passengers free of charge to the Railway Company, is entitled to the full returns from the supplementary fares.
The Company now owns ninety first-class and third-class Cars, some of these being new stock and only fairly recently put into service, and are operating on the following systems:—
The South Eastern and Chatham Railway. The London, Brighton, and South Coast Railway.
The Caledonian Railway. The Great Eastern Railway. The Metropolitan Railway.
The Contracts with the Railway Companies average between 12 and 20 years to run (excepting with the Metropolitan Railway, which is indefinite) and are of an entirely satisfactory character. They provide for the running of the cars on the various lines under favourable conditions and for periods which vary according to the mutual agreement for the supply of additional rolling stock. Thus, when new cars are added from time to time under such agreement, the Contracts stand renewed as applied to such new Cars for the full period of the original Contract.
Sixty-three new Cars are in course of construction and are on the point of delivery, and will, therefore, be shortly in operation and earning revenue. The total number of Cars then owned by the Company will be 153.
The Debentures have been issued with the object of furnishing funds for the completion of the payments to be made in connection with the construction contracts of these new Cars, approximately £285,000, and, after redeeming the £118,500 6% First Mortgage Sinking Fund Equipment Debentures now outstanding, and taking into account instalments receivable or receivable on the issue of 250,000 new Ordinary Shares, there will be available for the general purposes of the Company the sum of £88,819 19s. 5d., as shown in the certificate of Messrs. W. B. Peat and Co., the Auditors of the Company, which I enclose herewith, viz.:—

Add—Estimated amount available as working Capital out of proceeds of Debenture Issue, after taking into account instalments receivable on the issue of £250,000 new Ordinary Shares and after providing for commission of 1 per cent. payable by the Company to Messrs. 			121,328 0 0
TOTAL NET ASSETS			£1,337,670 14 2

Yours faithfully, W. B. PEAT AND CO., Chartered Accountants.

From the above Certificate it will be seen that the issue of 8 per cent. Debentures is covered more than 2½ times.
The following are the Profits of the past 4 years as shown by the published accounts of the Company:—

Year ending 30th September.	Gross Earnings, Interest and Transfer Fees. £ s. d.	Operating and Management Expenses, Maintenance, etc. £ s. d.	Net Profits. £ s. d.
1917	75,546 7 0	43,109 9 2	32,136 17 10
1918	102,522 15 3	51,977 11 7	50,545 3 8
1919	148,117 7 8	82,995 18 3	65,125 9 5
1920	192,000 0 0	126,224 0 0	65,776 0 0

It will be seen that the gross receipts for 1920 exceed those for 1919 by £43,882 12s. 4d. The receipts for 1919, however, include a payment of £8,500 of an exceptional nature. The working expenses for 1920 exceed those for 1919 by £43,228 1s. 9d., but this was due to abnormal causes, partly owing to increases in the cost of commissary expenditure now greatly reduced by the progressive fall in the price of foodstuffs and partly to expenditure of a non-recurring nature.
From the 30th September, 1920, to the 31st March, 1921, the gross receipts were £91,346 18s. 7d., being £11,895 18s. 2d. in excess of the figures for the corresponding period of the previous year.
On the average receipts per Car for 1920, 153 Cars, when all running, should produce a net revenue of £111,690, but, owing to the economies to be realised on overhead charges, the fall in the price of foodstuffs, the increase in tariffs and the additional accommodation provided in some of the larger Cars, I am confident that the net profits will forthwith considerably exceed £125,000 per annum, more than twice the amount necessary to cover the Interest and Sinking Fund of the Debentures.
In conclusion, I may add that the Directors have every confidence in the future expansion and prosperity of the Company.

Yours faithfully,
DAVISON DALZIEL, Chairman.

FINANCIAL NEWS

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

WAR FIVES BETTER. SUDDEN RALLY IN DUBLIN TRAMS AND GRAND CANALS. HOME RAILS SLUMP FURTHER.

The outstanding feature on 'Change yesterday was the complete damping down of the Home Railway Market "boom" in Ordinary Stocks on the general reduction in the interim dividends notified. The dramatic advance last week has been short-lived, though if the London Conferences produce a settlement of the very vexed Irish question, as is so much desired, the markets will doubtless resume their cheerfulness irrespective of temporary dividend disappointments. The Funds eased a little, but War Loan Fives were firm at a recovery. Banks were firm, but quiet, except Provincials, which showed a gain on the ex-dividend price. Guinness were firm, with the Pref. changing hands at a premium once more. Dublin Distillers Ord. fell on the reduced profits and distribution compared with last year's big record. City Steam Pref. relapsed, but Grand Canal Ord. was eagerly bid for at a satisfactory recovery. Marconis remain dull, and practically stagnant. A big advance was bid for Dublin United Tram Ord., but no shares were on offer. Alliance Gas Debs. were good. Drapery Shares were steadier, especially Pref. and Deb. Shares. Textiles were perhaps a little easier. Burke issues were sellers for choice. Imperial Tobacco Shares were active and good. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were harder, and a better undertone in the market. Oils steady.

In the Funds, War Loan 5 per cent. rose ⅜ to 88, but Irish Land 2¾ per cent. fell ⅛ to 48⅞; ditto 3 per cent. ¼ to 52$\frac{1}{16}$, and India 3½ per cent. $\frac{1}{16}$ to 57$\frac{1}{16}$.

Banks were firm. Bank of Ireland repeated 206, Munsters $\frac{1}{16}$, and Nationals 17; while Provincial Old rose $\frac{1}{16}$ to 18⅜.

Among Breweries and Distilleries, Guinness repeated 39⅞, but the Pref. rose ⅛ to 10¼. Dublin Distillers Ord. fell 3s. to 41s., and the Pref. repeated 88s. 9d.

City Steam Pref. fell 2½ to 95 for an odd lot; but Grand Canal Ord. closed practically 10s. higher at 50s., 60s., nominally.

There was a further rush to clear out of Home Rails on the reduction in the Great Southern dividend, which was unexpected, and the price slumped 4½ more to 50½. Dublin and South Eastern left off 2¾ lower at 15¼, after earlier dealing at 16; while Midland Great Western fell ½ to 25¼. Pre-Ord issues were, however, firm, with Great Southern Pref. 1⅜ higher at 51⅞, and the last price, 53⅞, in effectually bid for Great Northern Pref. stock.

The only change in Trams was the sudden bidding for Dublin United Ord. up to 6⅞ x-d., against 5$\frac{11}{32}$ the last price.

Alliance and Dublin Consumers' Gas Debs. rose ⅛ to 54.

In Drapery shares, Switzer Pref. fell 1s. 3d. to 72s. 6d., but the Debs. were bid up ¼ to 5¼, and Todd Burns Pref. rose a further 1s. 3d. to 55s., 57s. 6d.

Manufacturing shares were much busier. In Textiles, Dyers rose 6d. to 36s., but Calicos fell 1½d. to 16s. 3d.; Coats 6d. to 49s. 6d.; Cottons 3d. to 34s. 9d.; and Spinners 4½d. to 36s. 6d. Denny Pref. rose ¼ to 7¼, and Lever Bros. 8 per cent. 3d. to 15s. 9d. Vickers fell 4½d. to 13s. 4½d.

Other business done included Dunlop Rubber Ord., which rose 3d. to 10s. 10½d., 11s.; and Imperial Tobacco 4½d. to 49s. 10½d. up to 50s. 1½d.

LATER MARKET.

Home Rails harder. Wicklow 15⅞ bid, and Great Southern 51 bid.

STOCKS RESTRICTED.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Markets opened yesterday still showing the better tendency with which they had closed last week and though restricted business in all but a few groups caused an easier feeling to develop towards the close, the leaders in the investment groups continued steady. There were two outstanding features, however, namely—the continued strength of Home Rail prior charge issues in which quite a considerable number of dealings took place; and the firmness of Colonial Corporation issues, particularly Canadian stocks of this group which showed various rises in sympathy with the improvement in value of the dollar.

LONDON STOCKS HAVE A DULL OPENING.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

On the London Stock Exchange the week opened very quietly, indeed, and the week-end post orders were soon disposed of. The markets suffered heavily from lassitude, brought about by the lack of business and the great heat, and also from the fact that the holiday season is now in full swing. Oil shares were rather affected yesterday by the talk of another cut in prices for oil, but the "Kaffir" market was quite unmoved by a further improvement in the price of gold. Among the gilt-edged group there was but little change. Consols showed a rise of $\frac{1}{16}$, and War Loans were generally unaltered, except that the 4 per cent. fell ⅛. The Funding Loan fell ⅛ and Victory Bonds ¼.

Foreign Government securities had a good tone, although there was but little business. French Fives rose ½ to 45, and the Fours at 34½ were ex coupon. German Threes were unchanged. Japanese Bonds were strong. The 4½ per cent. 1st Series rose a point, as did the 4 per cent. 1905 and the new 5 per cent. Egyptian Unified also rose ½. Chinese Bonds were well supported, but they closed unchanged.

Home Rails were fairly steady, though they shared the prevailing idleness. The Great Northern Pref. and Def. each rose ½. London and South-Western Def. were also ½ better. North-Eastern Consols. advanced the same fraction to 70½. Underground issues were good. Metropolitan at 26 were ½ better, and the 5 p.c. Pref. was a point higher at 63. The Underground Electric Ord., however, was ⅛ down.

Canadian Pacifics were unchanged, while Grand Trunks were almost inactive. Argentines were dull, except that Pacifics rose ½ to 36. San Paulo Ord. fell 1, and United of Havana ½.

INDUSTRIAL SHARES NOT UNFAVOURABLE.

HARPER BEAN COLLAPSE.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

With very little business passing, the Miscellaneous and Industrial market failed to develop any decided tendency yesterday. Now that the week-end letter-bags do not arrive till Tuesday morning Monday has assumed less interest than was once the case, and complaints were heard that the postal arrangements should in these days hinder rather than encourage business. Provincial dealings were very restricted, and in consequence of the general inactivity quotations were scarcely tested. Small parcels on offer here and there resulted in the usual sagging, but a fair sprinkling of rises was recorded in other directions, and on balance the market exhibited a not unfavourable appearance. Good support was in evidence for Chinese Engineering, which rose $\frac{1}{16}$ to 4$\frac{1}{16}$, but elsewhere Iron and Steel were inclined to sag in the absence of business. Movements were exceedingly few. Ebbw Vale at 16s. 6d., and Brunner Mond at 24s. 6d., were 3d. easier, also Sheffield Steel Products at 10s. 3d. Swan Hunter yielded to 1$\frac{1}{16}$. In Electrical descriptions General Electric Debs. were steady at par. Siemens Bros. Ord. hardened to 23s. 6d., and English Electric gained 3d. at 12s. 3d. City of Buenos Ayres Tramways improved to 3$\frac{1}{16}$, and Canadian-Americans were all better, including Cities Services (20 up at 160 x.d.) and Canada Cement Common (2 higher at 59½). Shipping securities showed no disposition to yield, though dealings were scarce. P. and O. Def. hardened up to 340, or 5 better, and Royal Mail finished 1½ higher at 86. Insurances were neglected, but several Brewery securities were better, Watney Combe Def. rising 2 to 152, and the 3½ p.c. Debs. a point up at 52. St. Louis Pref. put on ⅛ at 3⅞. Banks showed improvements as regards Barclay's "B" and Lloyds, at 41s. 9d. x.d. and 46s. 3d. x.d. respectively, Bank of Australasia also rising 1 to 81, and Anglo-South American advancing ⅛ to 8⅞. A fall of 9d. in Courtaulds to 38s. 6d. was the principal movement among Textiles, the majority of other quotations in this group showing no change. Amalgamated Cottons were still 14s. 6d., but British Cotton and Wool Dyers yielded to 5s. 6d. English Sewing Cotton brightened to 1¾. Forestals were a few pence better at 24s 6d. x.d., and among other Land shares Duff Developments rose to 5s. 6d. Sudan Plantations, however, lost ⅛ at 2⅛; a firm appearance was presented by the Wireless section, Marconis closing unchanged at 2$\frac{1}{16}$, and the Pref. improving to that level. Nitrates lacked interest, with no net alteration in prices. Harper Bean Ord. changed hands at 1s. 9d. on the appearance of the annual report. Owing largely, it is stated, to the difficulties of A. Harper, Sons, and Bean there is a debit balance of £129,846. Contingent on the reconstruction of A. Harper, Sons, and Bean, it is now proposed to reduce the company's capital by approximately £2,150,000. Unpaid calls amount to £1,105,243, and forfeiture of the shares will now probably result. Elsewhere among Miscellaneous descriptions movements were irregular. Oil Cakes were a good market up to 27s. 6d., and Tobacco shares were good, including Imperial Tobacco at 49s. 9d., after being 50s., and B.A.T. 3$\frac{13}{32}$, after being 3$\frac{7}{16}$. Cement issues varied, British Portlands improving to 23s. 6d., but Associated eased to 20s. Dunlops were a dull market at 10s. 9d., and Borax Def. yielded to 1⅜. In Foodstuffs, Lipton's exhibited a hardening tendency at 17s. 9d. ex-div., Maypoles at 7s. 4½d., and Van Den Berghs at 1¾, showing no change. Harrods were harder among Stores at 1$\frac{1}{16}$, and J. Barker were better at 32s. 9d.

MINES HOLD THEIR GROUND.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Holiday influences are beginning to affect markets, and yesterday business in the House was on a small scale. The absence of Sunday postal facilities may be in some measure responsible for the meagreness of public support, but even so the purely investment departments were able to maintain a very steady tone, while among the more speculative sections Mining Shares held their ground quite well. In the light of last week's activity, some disappointment was expressed that Kaffirs were unable to make a better showing, particularly as the price of gold further advanced 5d. to £5 13s. 9d. per ounce. But the modest public inquiry was counterbalanced by sales by professionals, who doubted the staying power of the forward movement, and in the morning by offering from Paris on the reopening of the Bourse. Moreover, Glasgow was on holiday, and this exercised a restraining influence. Later the French capital changed its tactics, and, as the selling had never been of a serious character, quotations were inclined to harden again. However, considerable irregularity was shown at the close. Not unnaturally some of the shares which were foremost in the recent advance were the first to reflect the slackening of interest, and thus Central Mining were down to the extent of half a crown at 6⅞, and Meyer and Charlton were a like fraction lower at 4½, while "Johnnies," the Randfontein issues, Modderfontein, Geduld, and Government Mines were all a trifle easier. City Deep and Van Ryn Deep were wanted for investment purposes, and hardened $\frac{1}{16}$ to 2$\frac{11}{16}$ and 3$\frac{1}{16}$, respectively, and Modder Deep also responded to a fairly persistent demand. Anglo-American Corporation were unaffected by the announcement that the shares may shortly be listed on the New York Market. Closing prices:—

RUBBER SHARE MARKET STEADY.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The Rubber Share Market was not much affected by the proposed formation of the Rubber Corporation. The proposed formation was much discussed, but there was much difference of opinion as to success. The tone of the market was fairly good, and the general slackness of the markets had little effect upon prices. Anglo-Malay rose 1s. 1½d., Bukit Rajah 1s. 3d., Damansara 1s. 3d., Kimanis 2s., Malayalam 2s. 2½d., Membakut 1s. 9d., Rubber Estates of Johore 1s. 9d., Sablas 1s., Serdang Central and Straits Rubber 1s. 9d. each, Tandjong 1s. 1½d. and Un Sua Betong 1s. 10½d. There were many other smaller rises. Among the falls was one of 3d. in Anglo-Dutch and 6d. each in Strathmore and Sumatra. Closing prices:—

OIL SHARE MARKET WEAKER.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Oil Shares commenced the week in none too promising fashion, for although quotations were steady at the start the week-end post brought very few orders, and the paucity of business resulted in a steady decline in prices. The market had a distinctly dull appearance at the official close, and the downward movement was continued in the street, last prices being the worst of the day. There was practically nothing doing on Paris account. Mexican Eagles were the chief sufferers in the decline, the shares being steadily offered throughout the day and finishing appreciably lower, the Prefs. and new shares moving down in sympathy. In common with them, other leading descriptions developed a dull tendency, and, while the turnover was small, losses occurred in Shells, Royal Dutch, and Burmahs. A moderate amount of attention continued to be devoted to the Anglo-Persian Pref. issues and to Burmah New Prefs., but the latter left off slightly easier. Lobitos were steady, the remarks of the chairman at yesterday's meeting being regarded as satisfactory. The company has secured important oil rights in Columbia, which the company believes may prove to be very valuable. Following the encouraging statements at the recent meeting of the Anglo-Egyptian Oilfields, the "B" Shares were bid for in the early hours at an advance, but gave way later in the day, and were finally unchanged. Trinidad issues were uninteresting, shrinkages being registered by Centrals and Apex. Scottish American made a poor showing, and the shares remained on the dull side, while, in sympathy with them, Tankers Pref. weakened. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANS VERY CHEAP.

Bank Rate (changed June 23, 1921) ...... 6 p.c.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

On the London Money Market, although calls to the extent of 2½ millions fell due yesterday, the supply of floating credit was not appreciably affected. It almost looks as if the borrowing on "ways and means" is continuing for the time being. Daily loans ruled from 4 to 3 p.c., fresh money at 3½ p.c. being obtainable quite early in the day. The discount market remained very quiet, but there was a keen demand for October Treasuries at anything above the "additional" rate of 4⅝ p.c. Rates for commercial bills were on the easy side, and those accustomed to deal closely quoted the three months' bill at 4⅝ p.c.

Gold was a further 5d. up at 113s 9d. per oz., fine. Bar silver fell ⅛d. to 37⅞d. per oz. for spot and 36⅞d. per oz. for forward delivery. The fall was on poor support and easier advices from China. Business was quiet.

Among foreign exchanges the New York Exchange had another turn downwards, and from the way Norway and Copenhagen rates have risen it looked as though b[illegible] of dollars were on Scandinavian account. Paris opened at 46, 47, and did not vary much, showing little net change, but Brussels cheque was a few centimes more favourable to Belgium. German marks were getting a bit "wobbly" and the rate was about 6 to the pound higher after the recent fall. As mentioned, Norway and Denmark jumped in our favour, but Sweden kept pretty level. The Brazil milreis was $\frac{1}{16}$ better.

FAIRFIELD STEAMSHIP CO.—The directors announce that the present is not a favourable time for the declaration of a final dividend. An interim dividend of 6 per cent., free of tax, was paid in September last. Accounts for the year to July 15 are not yet prepared, but it is hoped to have them completed in a few days.

HARPER BEAN.—The directors of Harper Bean, Limited, in their report for the period ended December 31st, 1920, state that the operations of the company show a loss of £129,846, which included £74,084, written off in respect of contracts placed in the United States for plant and machinery, which were cancelled by arrangement. The adverse position disclosed has been largely brought about by the financial difficulties of A. Harper, Sons, and Bean, Limited.

NOBEL INDUSTRIES.—The directors recommend a Preference Share dividend at the rate of 6 per cent., less tax, for the half-year ended 31st December, 1920 (paid 1st February, 1921), including provision for shares subsequently surrendered. A sum to be carried forward of £757,498 3/10. The directors have been impressed with the paramount necessity in the present industrial crisis and the uncertain financial prospects ahead of conserving the resources of the company, and have accordingly decided to make no recommendation for the payment of a dividend on the Ordinary and Deferred Shares, a course which they have no doubt will commend itself to the shareholders. The trading prospects at the beginning of the current year were showing some signs of revival from the general depression until interrupted by the coal stoppage, the actual influence of which upon the financial results of the year 1921 it is not yet possible to estimate. The meeting will be held in the Great Hall, Winchester House, 50 Old Broad street, London, E.C., on Friday, 29th inst., at 12.30.

PROVINCIAL BANK REPORT.

The report and balance sheet of the Provincial Bank of Ireland for the half-year ended June 30 are printed in another column. The net profits for the six months, including £24,779 brought in, amount to £77,018, a trifling decline on the corresponding period of 1920, and the dividend is at the old rate of 13½ p.c., which absorbs £25,515; the reserve fund gets £15,000, bank premises account £5,000, and £31,503 is carried forward. The reserve fund now stands at £465,000, an increase of £30,000. The gross profit is £198,831, and the working expenses have gone up to £146,000, as against £130,000 in June, 1920. Turning to the balance sheet we find that the deposits now amount to £17,506,344, an increase, compared with the corresponding six months, of £2,030,497, and the advances total £9,506,450, an increase of £592,800. The note circulation in common with other Irish banks of issue has fallen from £2,105,496 to £1,686,739, a decrease of £419,757. The proportion of cash on hands and readily realisable securities amounts to 55 p.c. of the bank's obligations to the public. The investments have been written down to under market prices, and War Loan stocks have been taken at cost or under. Altogether the position as revealed by the balance-sheet indicates conservative management, combined with a generous desire to meet the banking requirements of the public. The meeting will be held on Wednesday, July 27, at the Shelbourne Hotel.

IMPORTANT WIRELESS DISCOVERY.

Mr. Marconi has just returned to London, and announces that he has been for the last few weeks testing a new method of wireless reception developed by one of the company's engineers, which enables him to receive continuously from the United States without being in any way interfered with by atmospheric disturbances, which are particularly prevalent at this time of year and more severe than usual in recent weeks in consequence of the abnormal spell of hot weather. Mr. Marconi regards this advance as of the greatest importance, for it enables a wireless telegraph service to be conducted notwithstanding atmospheric disturbances during the whole 24 hours and at high speed during the greater part of the time. It would be difficult to exaggerate the practical value in commercial long distance wireless telegraphy of this latest achievement.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

To the Shareholders of the PROVINCIAL BANK OF IRELAND, LIMITED.

We have audited the above Balance Sheet and Account, dated 30th June, 1921, and compared them with the books of the London Office and with the certified Returns from the Branches. We have obtained all the information and explanations we have required. We have verified the Cash balances at London Bankers and the Investments of the Bank. The Bank Premises, owing to the amounts written off from time to time, stand at less than their value. Subject to this remark, in our opinion the Balance Sheet is full and fair, and is properly drawn up, so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Company's affairs, according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shown by the books of the Company.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

A considerable impetus will be given to West Africa trade by the announcement by Elder Dempster and Co. of a reduction of approximately 25 per cent. in the homeward rates of freight from west and south-west African ports to Liverpool, Hull, and London on palm kernels, palm oil, ground nuts, cocoa, and timber. An amended tariff relating to other products is promised at an early date.

The query in Parliament regarding the Admiralty delay in the matter of the accounts with Vickers does not help us very much. Commander Hilton Young points out that the magnitude and complexity of the contracts cancelled after the Armistice made a rapid settlement impossible if the interests of the Exchequer were to be properly safeguarded. With regard to the Ministry of Munitions, a general settlement of outstanding matters, other than current contracts, had been reached by August 20 last year. An agreement with the Admiralty, it appears, was reached a year ago in regard to armament items. The Admiralty does not accept responsibility for the delay, nor does it appear that Vickers have made any complaint. Perhaps the directors will consider the question of presenting interim accounts.

Recently there was some talk of "Street" dealings in New York being abolished, and it was proposed to carry on the business in a new building erected by the dealers in non-quoted securities. The members, however, have decided to continue dealing in the "Street," and as the municipal authorities have made no demur the seventy-two-year-old practice will go on. The "curb" market is one of the sights of New York. It goes on all day, and has justified its existence by the convenience it has been to the investing public.

The White Star Co. has recently concluded the purchase from the Reparations Commission of the German liner Columbus. The price has not transpired. The vessel will be renamed in harmony with the names of the other ships of the fleet. She is 35,000 tons register, and one of the six largest liners afloat. Her maximum passenger capacity will be 2,700.

The hurried purchases of American coal have led to some wild gambling in floating cargoes (says the Financial News), and shipfuls have been offered down to as low as 40s. per ton. The actual cost of these cargoes to the adventurers will be over 60s. per ton, and the original buyers stand to lose at least £1 per ton.

The Brazilian milreis continues round about 7¾d. compared with the par of 16d., and when we look at the trade of the country for the first quarter of this year, and remember that there has been little definite improvement since, this adverse exchange is pretty well explained. Taking the tonnage for the first three months, and comparing it with the corresponding period of 1920, the showing might be worse—there is an increase of 60,898 metric tons in exports and of 39,760 tons in imports. The adverse balance is heavy, though when we look at it in milreis, which suggests that Brazil has felt acutely the fall in prices, exports show a decline of no less than 134,340,000 milreis, and imports an increase of 275,654,000 milreis, the total adverse balance, therefore, being 398,994,000 milreis. Bringing these figures to sterling, the effects of the depression and the fall in exchange, which are interdependent, are clearly shown. Exports for the 1921 quarter, at £14,698,000, are no less than £22,368,000 down, while imports are only £1,367,000 up. The sterling adverse balance, therefore, is nearly 21 millions.

TRAFFICS.

Shanghai Electric Construction Company, Ltd., for the month of June, 1921, increase 11,269 Mexican dollars; Delhi Umballa Kalka Railway, for week ending July 9th, decrease 29,711 rupees; Madras Electric Tramways, for fortnight ended 15th July, receipts 50,763 rupees; Zafra and Huelva Railway (Spain), increase £440 for June.
